

MEXICO WILL SWAP KRATZ FOR BANK BOOTERS

Failure of Financial Institution in the Capital and Flight of Directors to United States Puts Reciprocity
Plan to Immediate Test.

FUGITIVE LOST LARGE SUM IN CRASH OF THE CONCERN

His Attorney, Senor Costanos, Returns
From Mexico Without Having Succeeded in Placing Any Obstacle in Way of Extradition Processes.

BY C. C. RIDER,

Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, via Galveston, Oct. 30.—Senor Fernando Costanos, leading attorney for Charles Kratz, who hurried to the City of Mexico immediately upon his client's arrest to make an effort with the federal authorities to secure his release, has returned without accomplishing his mission.

There is no question that he is much discouraged over the results of his conferences with the officers of President Diaz, and that his hope, and the hope of Kratz and his friends, of the success of the fight against extradition has been greatly lessened.

Kratz, John Kratz, Charles Carroll and Senor Costanos declare, however, that they will continue the fight to the last.

They are inclined to blame the failure of the International Bank and Trust Co. of the City of Mexico, some of whose officers have left Mexico and are hiding, supposedly in the United States, for the evident intention of the Mexican government to surrender Kratz.

It is his belief that President Diaz is anxious to secure the extradition of this missing bank official from the United States, and as a means to that end he is inclined to look upon the surrender of Kratz with more favor than otherwise would be the case.

The Mexican president plainly displays his understanding of the fact that President Roosevelt's promise of reciprocity would probably hold good only after a basis for reciprocity had been established by the surrender of Kratz.

Easy Way to Get Defaulters.

There is little doubt that President Diaz realizes the additional popularity that would come to him through securing the capture of the missing bank official, whose mismanagement caused the loss of thousands of dollars to depositors throughout the republic, and that he is willing to make concessions to secure their return.

When Senor Costanos went to the City of Mexico to secure an audience with President Diaz and to demand that the extradition of Kratz be refused, he did not realize the full importance of the part that the bank failure might play in the case. He knew, of course, that Kratz had lost several thousand dollars which he had deposited with the Guadalajara branch of the bank.

Senor Costanos believed that the courts would act in compliance with the wishes of President Diaz, told Kratz that the question of granting or refusing the request for extradition was largely a diplomatic one, and hurried to the City of Mexico.

He employed leading lawyers of the capital, and they joined in an appeal to the president, to the department of foreign affairs and to the courts for the release of Kratz.

The best he could secure was an order stating that it was not necessary to remove Kratz to the penitentiary, as is usually done with such prisoners, but that he could be held instead in the Guadalajara jail.

Action upon the appeal for Kratz's release has not been formally taken, and will probably not be taken until the arrival of papers from Washington, several days hence.

Kratz continues to transact business from his apartment in the jail.

Demond and Dickmann Will See Kratz Soon.

Chief of Detectives William Demond and Sheriff Joseph P. Dickmann are well on their way toward Guadalajara to take possession of Charles Kratz as soon as the Mexican authorities will surrender him, and to bring him back to St. Louis for trial on the indictment charging bribery.

The two St. Louis officers will reach Guadalajara, according to their present schedule, shortly before noon, Tuesday.

Besides the necessary legal papers, the officers carry certificates of good health and letters of introduction to Ambassador Clayton. They expect to be back with their prisoner within ten days.

AMERICANS ARE DIRECTORS OF DEFUNCT TRUST COMPANY.

The International Bank and Trust Co. of America, with headquarters in Mexico City, closed its doors Saturday morning, Oct. 27. Its liabilities were estimated at $1,250,000. Its capitalization was advertised in circulars as being $1,500,000.

The bank closed after a run lasting for several days had been made upon it. The last cash came when the bank was unable to pay a check for $25,000.

The International Bank and Trust Co. in addition to its main office at Mexico City, had seven other branches in Mexico and two in the United States, at New York City and the other in San Francisco.

The failure of the bank was generally ascribed to the negligence of its directors, who at the New York office, immediately upon notice of its failure, Wm. Hill Hunt, president of the bank with headquarters in New York City, started out post haste for Mexico.

At arrival there a man by the name of Fullerton was appointed receiver. He was a resident of New York City and was in Mexico City and soon left for New York City. While the majority of the officers of the bank were located in Mexico, the directors and officers were men.

It is a rumor that the trust company was organized by a group of men who were the same as those of the original company.

Patrolman James Dockery, recently awarded the gold medal for the bravest act performed by a member of the police department in a year, figures again as a quick-witted hero.

Hanging head down from the side of a barge while two men held his legs he swung out over the water and rescued a drowning woman. He then repeated the feat on the lower deck, while standing on the unprotected edge of the deck, he stepped backward, went too far and fell into the river.

Henderson plunged after her immediately and managed to seize her just as she was about to be carried away by the current. He was aided by James Sullivan, a watchman, William Jones, a negro, and Patrolman Dockery.

His wife, who was a barge, whose deck rises about four feet above the water. Henderson managed to float himself and his unconscious wife toward the barge, and from it the rescue was made.

DENIES FORMER FRIEND'S ACCUSATION OF FORGERY

Miss Lullie May Detained Over Night at Four Courts While Waiting for Bond to Meet Accusation of Mrs.
Nellie Braggins-Gantz.

"I WASH MY HANDS OF IT," SAYS PRISONER'S FATHER.

ions of Whom Others Have Won
Fame and Fortune on Comic Opera Stage.

Miss Lullie May of 6279 Famous avenue waited all Friday morning in the sheriff's office in the Four Courts for a bondsman. A warrant had been issued for her arrest, charging her with forgery. The complainant was her former friend and schoolmate, Mrs. Nellie Braggins-Gantz of 213 California avenue.

When the deputy sheriff who had her in charge went to lunch, Miss May was transferred to the jail. Later she was again taken in the sheriff's office.

In her complaint Mrs. Braggins-Gantz alleges that she bought a note for $300 from Miss May, signed by Philip and Emily May, her parents, dated Sept. 1. She says the note is a forgery.

Miss May was held for lack of a bondsman for $800 and spent Thursday night in the detention room at the Four Courts. In the Four Courts Friday morning Miss May declared her innocence of having committed forgery, the tears filling her blue eyes. She is a pretty young woman of the blonde type, and was stylishly attired in blue walking suit and a white silk shirt waist, a jeweled lizard fastening her lace collar.

"I am entirely innocent of wrongdoing," she said. "The whole thing is a terrible mistake, as I shall be able to prove. I have not committed forgery. When my case is tried I will prove that this charge and my arrest are the result of malicious persecution on the part of one who was my friend."

"Who is this malicious person?" she was asked.

"I do not care to say at present. I shall tell at the trial."

"The note was not forged. My parents made out a note for $300, signed it and gave it to me to get the money. I finally took it to Mrs. Nellie Braggins-Gantz, who loaned me $120 and took the note as collateral. That is all there is to it."

"Your father states that he signed no such note."

"He does?" she cried, much startled.

Miss May looked out of the window for some moments, biting her lips and striving to keep back the tears. Then she shook her head in a gesture of despair.

"I don't care to say at present. I shall tell at the trial."

WITNESS FAINTS IN COURTROOM

Mrs. Anna Kennedy Frightened at Presence of Another Who Had Come to Testify.

Another sensation was added to the list of those which have distinguished the courtroom of Judge Joseph P. Hayes and his wife, Carrie Hayes, for the possession of their child, Elvadean, when, in Judge Blevins' court Friday morning, Mrs. Anna Kennedy, one of the witnesses for Hayes, fainted.

It is stated that she was frightened by the appearance of a witness for the other side who, she understood, had made threats against her.

Mrs. Kennedy, who lives at 213 Bell avenue, was sitting with Miss Catherine Hayes, a sister of Joseph P. Hayes, on an aisle seat near the door, waiting for the habeas corpus case of the father to be called.

When she entered the courtroom, Mrs. Kennedy's attention to one of them. Mrs. Kennedy screamed excitedly, and fell fainting to the floor. She was carried out of the room and revived after considerable effort.

Hayes is an iron mountain engineer, living at 2040 Bell avenue. His wife formerly lived in Mexico, Mo., where her parents still reside.

When Hayes was ordered to Van Buren, Ark., as headquarters from which to make his run, his wife refused to live there. She went back to Mexico with Elvadean, who is 5 years old, and suit for divorce was filed.

Early in October Hayes visited his wife and brought the little girl to St. Louis. He said he took her to his home in the winter. Mrs. Hayes telegraphed her actions here to secure possession of the child, and a writ of habeas corpus was asked.

Last Saturday Judge Moore of the court of criminal correction declared he did not have jurisdiction in the case, and Mrs. Hayes meantime having been given the child, Hayes asked for a writ for her return here to secure possession of the child, and a writ of habeas corpus was asked.

The hearing of this application was set for Friday.

SHOWERS TONIGHT AND COLDER

A special importation of weather which the official forecaster disdains to call "cold," but which he admits will be "cool," is expected to arrive Saturday afternoon, direct from Washington and Oregon and that immediate vicinity. Until that time it will be "showers."

Here is the prediction in the weather man's own language:

"Showers Friday night and Saturday; fresh south-east winds, shifting to northerly, with cooler by Saturday afternoon or night."

Altogether, it is not a pretty prospect, even though Friday morning's sun, breaking as it had through the smoke clouds, did not seem to give full promise of its verification.

But the weather man says it is the best he can do. They are having had weather all over the western part of the country, according to the confessions of other weather men. There is a storm area that is central over western Kansas, and which caused rain in the Gulf states and the Upper Mississippi valley, and snow in the plateau regions and the northern Rocky Mountain regions. There was freezing weather in Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, eastern Washington and Oregon, while St. Louis enjoyed a temperature of 13 degrees.

EASTERN MEN ASKED TO TELL BLAIR STORY

Letters Signed by Circuit Attorney
Folk Request Evans R. Dick and Frederick Graham to Come to St.
Louis as Witnesses.

BLAIR, NOW CONVALESCENT, AWAITS GRANDJURY REPORT

Preparations for Removal Go On, but Eastern Relatives Say They Do Not Know That Family Will Locate in New York City.

Personal letters to Evans R. Dick of the firm of Dick Bros. & Co. of Philadelphia, and Geo. S. Graham of New York, their attorneys, have been sent by Circuit Attorney Folk.

Mr. Folk declines to give out the text of the letters, but says they are requests for the two gentlemen to come to St. Louis, bringing papers and books with them, to appear as witnesses before the grand jury in the Blair story.

Mr. Folk expects that answers will be received from both gentlemen about next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Mr. Folk hopes that Messrs. Dick and Graham will bring with them copies of the deeds and other instruments which James T. Roberts says are fraudulent, in order that they may be investigated.

A subpoena was issued Friday morning demanding the appearance of Andrew Blair, brother of James L. Blair, before the St. Louis grand jury at 2 o'clock. It was given to Deputy Sheriff J. W. Bellairs of St. Louis County to serve, and he proceeded forthwith to "Stancote."

About noon he arrived at the big stone gateway and marched boldly up the road. Not far, however, for he was met by the redoubtable Tippetts, the English coachman, who was standing in the middle of the road like a grenadier on guard.

"I say, hold hard!" cried Tippetts, blocking the way. "You can't come in here, you know, my man."

"The dickens I can't!" exclaimed the deputy sheriff in amazement. "Stand aside, I'm an officer of the law."

"That won't do me lad," said Tippetts. "I'm not to be caught by such chaff, don't you know. I'm on to you. You're a reporter."

"I tell you I'm a deputy sheriff," said Bellairs. "Get out of my way."

Bellairs gave Tippetts satisfactory proof that he was what he claimed to be, and Tippetts reluctantly permitted him to pass.

"You see," he explained, "I've been put here to keep reporters away from the house, and, by Jove, I'm going to do it. They will enter at their peril."

When the deputy sheriff reached the house and asked for Andrew Blair the door was slammed in his face.

He returned to Tippetts and asked him if Andrew Blair was in the house. The faithful Tippetts replied that he knew no such person.

"But you must remember him. He was here two years ago," said Bellairs.

"Perhaps I do," answered Tippetts. "But it's my duty to forget things I see and hear."

The deputy sheriff then took his stand in the Sappington road in front of "Stancote" to await the appearance of Mr. Andrew Blair.

James L. Blair was so far recovered Friday morning that he was able to walk about the rooms of the Blair mansion. Stancote on crutches, as he did before his collapse last Saturday afternoon.

Both Mr. Blair and Mrs. Blair withheld themselves from callers. Miss Nettie Rheats, Mrs. Blair's private secretary, said the family would soon leave Stancote, but declined to say when or where they were going.

It is understood that the date of departure depends largely upon the report which the grand jury is expected to make of its investigations. The report is expected to be made within the next two or three days.

"Stancote" is beginning to take on an appearance of desertion. All the lace curtains have disappeared from the windows.

All Friday morning wagons drove into the grounds from the circuit court, and with merchandise of various sorts.

A man called and held a long conference at the back door with the housekeeper. He emerged later with his wagon loaded with empty champagne bottles, which he had bought.

Shortly after the bottle went a wagon, carried away the large refrigerator which stood in the rear of the house.

During the morning several loads of bricks were hauled away from the vicinity of the gymnasium. There being no animals to eat it, a wagon load of bran also left the premises.

Several cases, contents unknown, were delivered to an express company, to be taken to St. Louis.

EASTERN RELATIVES KNOW
NOTHING OF BLAIR'S PLANS.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Mrs. C. M. Alexander of 219 West Eighth street, mother of James L. Blair, believes that the investigation into her son-in-law's affairs will show him innocent of any wrongdoing.

"So far as we know, the Blairs have not shipped any of their household goods to this city," said a brother of Mrs. Blair today. "That they have ordered their furniture shipped to our apartment I cannot believe."

Mr. Alexander is connected with the banking house of Dick & Robinson of No. 35 Broad street, who handle most of the investment business for Dick Bros. & Co. of Philadelphia.

$5000 VERDICT AGAINST DOCTOR

Mother Testifies That Physician Attacked Girl When She Objected to Treatment.

The third trial of the suit of Miss Freddie Roberts against Dr. Thomas T. Davidson for $50,000 damages resulted Friday morning in a verdict of $5000 for the plaintiff. The first suit gave the plaintiff $500; a new trial was granted, and the jury disagreed. Then the third trial was ordered.

Miss Roberts, the defendant in the suit, is now an inmate of the Fulton insane asylum, and the suit was filed in her name by her mother, Mrs. Mary E. Roberts, who now lives at Centralia, Mo.

The suit for damages was the result of the alleged mistreatment of Miss Roberts by Dr. Davidson while the young lady was a patient at his sanatorium on Easton avenue.

Mrs. Roberts said that Dr. Davidson flew into a violent rage when she refused to let her daughter be treated by Dr. Davidson. She testified that Dr. Davidson said that the young lady objected, saying that the treatment of the girl before had been too violent.

WOMEN VICTIMS OF LACE MONGERS

Talk Scotch Dialect and Sell Cheap Material at More Than Double Its Value.

Mrs. Warren S. McCall of 4374 West Pine boulevard reported to the police Friday that she had paid $10 for a quantity of cheap lace which had been represented to her as being genuine imported Scotch goods.

She says the goods were sold to her by two men who employed a Scotch dialect in making their arguments. She gave descriptions of the men to the police. Detectives state that these two men have been getting considerable money in the West End through visiting wealthy women and selling them lace and linens which they say, they brought with them from Scotland.

In some instances it is reported that the alleged "Scotchmen" have admitted that the goods were smuggled into this country, and have thus explained their ability to sell them so much cheaper than, according to their story, they could be sold by regular dealers who had been compelled to pay the tariff on them.

The police declare that the goods which they sell as "bargains" at from 90 cents to $1.50 per yard can be bought at almost any department store for from 35 cents to 50 cents per yard.

The second day's session of the conference of the Women's Christian Association at Centenary Church, Sixteenth and Pine streets, had as its feature an address by Mrs. Rose Johnson, mother of the Johnson home at Alexandria, Egypt.

The reports of the members of the various state boards was the principal business which the association had under consideration at the morning session. Under this head, the resignation of Mrs. Eliza B. Thurston as secretary for the District of Columbia was submitted, but not accepted.

DAIRYMEN WILL ASK FOR NEW MILK LAWS

Assembly to Be Urged to Pass Bill Repealing Present Ordinance, Lowering Standard of Milk and Making Other Radical Changes.

The fight that has been actively waged for many months by a number of St. Louis dairymen against the city milk ordinance and its enforcement has finally assumed a crystallized form. Within a few days the municipal assembly will be asked to pass upon a new ordinance prepared by the St. Louis Dairymen's Club with the expressed purpose of repealing the present milk ordinance and placing the enforcement of the provisions of the new ordinance in the hands of the health commissioner, instead of the city chemist, with whom the power of prosecution for milk frauds now lies.

Ever since the enactment of the present milk ordinance, less than a year ago, there have been a number of milk vendors who have complained that its provisions were unjust and that its requirements were detrimental to their business. The city chemist, under the power given him by the ordinance, has been vigorously prosecuting those who did not live up to the requirements of the ordinance, with the result that the records show that in his short tenure of office there have been more than 50 prosecutions for milk frauds.

On the other hand the milk vendors have been contending these prosecutions with increasing bitterness and several cases are now pending in the Court of Criminal Correction to decide the constitutionality of the ordinance under which the dairymen were fined.

It is asserted by friends of the present ordinance that it is the first really effective regulation after more than thirty years of fruitless legislation to check the adulteration of milk.

There are in St. Louis at the present time, three distinct and separate organizations of dairymen and milk vendors; the Dairymen's club, which fathers the proposed bill, the Northwestern association, and the Southwestern association. In addition, also, there are a great many independent firms who are members of no organizations or clubs.

Of these, the only one in favor of the present ordinance, it is said, is the Northwestern association and a majority of the independent firms. On the other hand, the Southwestern association, while not favoring the present ordinance, is still not friendly to the proposed bill.

In the provisions of the proposed bill, in contrast with the one now in force, the city chemist, as an active factor in the prosecutions for milk violations, is entirely eliminated. The power he has at the present time is transferred to the health commissioner to whom he shall in all things be subservient; instead of all things being subservient to him. The bill declares that such visits shall be only during "reasonable business hours."

In a great many other respects does the proposed bill vary from the one now in force. The quality of milk demanded is lowered. Whereas the present ordinance provides that not only the sale of adulterated or diluted milk, but a misdemeanor, the bill favors the Dairymen's club merely by declaring that such milk must be sold lawfully to constitute an offense; while the ordinance now in force commands that skimmed milk must be of a certain quality in relation to being labeled, the proposed bill simply says that skimmed milk must be labeled; on the question of registration, license fees, manufacture of adulterations, coloring matter and preservatives, the removing of diseased cows to a point beyond reach of infection, the Dairymen's ordinance is silent entirely.

On the other hand the proposed ordinance declares that milk inspectors must pay for such samples of milk as they take for inspection purposes.

One noticeable feature throughout is the fact that while the fine to which the dairymen is subject is lowered by more than half in every instance, the fine for the neglect of duty on the part of the city officials is doubled.

WORTH DOLLARS.
"You Have Truthfully Said They Are 'Next to Wings.'"
In the minds of many, O'Sullivan Rubber Heels are indispensable.

Any fraction of a dollar is a small price for the rubber heels of O'Sullivan, which have brought comfort and pleasure to the wearer.

Mr. Ray Reborn of Live Oak, Florida, recently wrote the following to the O'Sullivan Rubber Co.:
"I find that nothing takes the place of O'Sullivan Heels and would not be without them if they cost $2 a pair. You have my permission to use this as a testimonial because the heels will give others as much pleasure as they have me. There is nothing to equal them. You have truthfully said they are 'Next to Wings.'"

Send to the O'Sullivan Rubber Co., Lowell, Mass.—if the dealer does not supply you.
See a pair at all stores.

Color Milk.
"We have also inserted a clause which permits dealers to color their milk. All butter is colored, yet there is no outcry against the practice and it is recognized by the government. The only advantage is that it improves the appearance of the product. For the same reason milk is colored with the extract of the South American plant, annatto, which is harmless."

Skimmed milk should be sold for what it is, skimmed milk. The present law requires 1 1/2 per cent of butter fat in skimmed milk, which makes it one-half standard milk. Skimmed milk without butter fat, contains all the nitrogenous foods and should be sold as such. The abolishment of the butter fat condition is asked.

One of the most important provisions of the proposed ordinance is that only chemists who are practical dairy experts shall be employed as inspectors. We have suffered too much at the hands of chemists who know nothing of the real workings of a dairy.

"No inspector gifted with merely a theoretical knowledge can cope successfully with the difficulties of the position and do justice to the dealer as well as the consumer."

will claim to be intended to prevent the sale of such stuff as and for milk, is so worded as to require the city officials to prove criminal knowledge and intent on the part of the defendant. As it is practically impossible to furnish such proof, this section would be simply inoperative.

Under this new instrument of the law, a concoction of water, stale and partially skimmed milk, disinfectants and coloring matter could be sold with impunity as pure whole milk so long as it did not contain less than 25 per cent of butter fat. In fact, even if it be found to contain less than 25 per cent of butter fat we must prove that the vendor was cognizant of this fact before we can convict him of a misdemeanor that makes him liable to a payment of a maximum fine of only $25. (See section 12.)

Moreover, after we had proved that the vendor knew the milk contained less than 25 per cent of butter fat, he would go scot-free by simply stating that the milk was being sold as "skimmed milk" for section 14 does not regulate the minimum limit of any constituent of this so-called "skimmed milk." Under this perversion of the law, which it is proposed to substitute for the present excellent ordinance, it would be impossible to prevent the perpetuation of any fraud on the public by dishonest dairymen.

CARNEGIE SEES BRIGHT SIDE.
Thinks Good Will Follow Failure of Shipbuilding Trust.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Andrew Carnegie, who, with his wife and daughter, returned from Europe today, believes that the collapse of the United States Shipbuilding Co. was not without good results. He said concerning the failure: "It will result in a salutary reduction of values and the bringing of everything to a healthy condition. It is a good thing to squeeze the water out of some stock."

He said that the standard securities are as good as ever. In reply to a question whether the Schwab method had been severely criticized, he said: "That was inevitable. When a man is down, everybody is ready to kick him."

New Ordinance.
Mr. Walter Bernays, city chemist, discussing the proposed milk ordinance, said: "It requires only a superficial perusal of the proposed new milk ordinance to see that it is designed to contravert the end for which it purports to be drawn up. The title of the new measure unmasks its design. An ordinance to prevent the sale for consumption as food in families or for persons of any but pure, wholesome milk and cream."

This would make it incumbent on the officials appointed to enforce this law to prove that a given sample of milk had been taken from a can, the contents of which were intended for consumption as food in families or for persons.

If an inspector stopped a wagon and demanded a sample of milk from a certain can, the vendor, to avoid prosecution need only say that the milk in that particular can was not intended for consumption as food in families or for persons.

Section 7 provides that a full and complete qualitative and quantitative chemical analysis shall be made of every sample of milk or cream taken. Why this unnecessary consumption of time of highly-salaried city officials, when a preliminary analysis consuming comparatively little time shows with absolute certainty whether the milk is in compliance with the ordinance in composition or not, and whether it is necessary to subject the sample to the more rigid examination prescribed.

But what if such a complete and exhaustive analysis did show the milk in question to be heavily watered, skimmed and treated with antiseptics; and if, in addition, this mixture were artificially colored to deceive the eye of the gullible consumer? Under the ordinance proposed, it might be sold with impunity, and thus it is of the bill, which its framers

"Force-thoughts"

BY SUNNY JIM.

I BELIEVE breakfast is important but not solemn. It is the stepping-stone to what happiness or success the day holds for you. A day of sunniness and the power to do things is directly related to a dish of "FORCE" as is horse-power of steam to a ton of coal. It is wonderful how quickly the body swings in line just as soon as it begins to get the food it ought to have. Almost at once you feel its effects. Tangles untangle. Difficulties dissolve before you get to them. I don't see how you can hope to finish a day right if you begin it wrong—and the most important part of the beginning is breakfast—which really begins the night before, when you come to think about it. I'll tell you why. In the meantime, Be Sunny.

MURDER SOLVED BY BROTHER'S SUICIDE

Police Convinced Tom Bechtel, Who Ended Life in Cell, Killed Sister.

LIKE TRAGEDY OF "VIRGINIUS"

Mysterious Letter, Possibly Written by Victim's Sister, Says Saving Girl From Shame Was Motive.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
ALLENSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 29.—"Tom, Tom, my boy," cried Mrs. Bechtel at the coroner's inquest into the murder of her daughter, Mabel, when told of the suicide of her son.

Tom in a prison cell on a charge of complicity in the girl's death, had cut his throat with a hand so steady and strong and a heart so desperate that he all but severed his head from his body.

By his self-slaughter, the brother placed beyond all doubt the belief that he had killed the beautiful, erring girl.

Fifteen minutes after Tom's suicide became known, Mayor Lewis received, unsigned, a typewritten note postmarked Philadelphia. The writer declared that Tom Bechtel was the murderer and described the murder and events leading up to it almost exactly in accordance with the theory the police had worked out and which they expect to substantiate at the coroner's inquest, which was begun last evening and will be continued this afternoon. The letter in part read:

"She was killed by her brother. The body was taken downstairs with the assistance of the mother and laid in the passageway. The story was then made up between them about the carriage."

"The struggle with the girl to get her to release herself from the Jew, Weisenberg, who was dragging her down to infamy, culminated that night in a terrible scene, in which the brother, wrought up to madness, killed her."

"It is the same story of Virginus and his daughter, to save her from Tarquin, with the same result; Tarquin not killed, but the child, by Virginus, and so the cursed Jew, Weisenberg, escaped and the girl paid the penalty of his crime."

Sister May Have Written the Letter.

The letter was addressed to "The Mayor, Allenstown, Pa."

The Bechtel girl had a sister named Davis living in Philadelphia. It was she whom the girl visited on Saturday, coming back on Sunday with Weisenberg.

The police suspect that it was this sister who sent the letter, but with no idea that its arrival here would find her brother dead by his own hand.

The story told in the letter tallied so closely with that which the police had followed from one point to another that the inquest was hardly necessary to fasten the crime on Tom.

In view of the fact that the hearing last night had to be adjourned before the termination of the family, the Mayor and district attorney decided to withhold the warrants they had sworn out for the arrest of the mother and her three daughters, also that for Sam, the only brother who did not live at home and who, the police have ascertained definitely was not at the house on Sunday or Monday.

They were sent home in a carriage by the police, who will keep them under surveillance until the hearing is continued.

Two Other Brothers and Fiance Locked Up.

Charles and John, the brothers who did live in the house, and were both there on Sunday and Monday nights, according to the police, were locked up on suspicion, as was Eckstein, to whom the girl was to have been married Christmas week.

All the warrants are being held until the conclusion of the inquest. Weisenberg, who is being held technically as a witness, was released on the bond he gave Wednesday. He too, is to appear this afternoon.

The suicide of Thomas Bechtel has been followed by the police officials disclosing their theory of the murder of Miss Bechtel. Their story starts with last Thursday when Eckstein accompanied Miss Bechtel to Philadelphia. He left her there and returned home. Weisenberg met her in Philadelphia and accompanied her to Allenstown. They went to a certain place together, where they remained until midnight.

Thomas Bechtel heard of this, and, being strenuously opposed to Weisenberg, he upbraided the girl in her room upon her return home. He struck her a powerful blow on the cheek, causing her to fall heavily against a bureau door.

Members of the family held a council and decided upon the story made public. The girl in her room upon her return home. He struck her a powerful blow on the cheek, causing her to fall heavily against a bureau door.

This occurred immediately after midnight. The body was concealed in the home until Monday night, when it was placed in the awayway, where it was found Tuesday morning. Eckstein knew nothing of the murder, the police say.

Ten Thousand Members of the Union Expected to Go Out and Tie Up Other Organizations.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The threat of a national strike by the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers to force recognition of local No. 2 by the Iron League and Employers' Association has culminated in a resolution ordering a strike all over the country, to go into effect Saturday, in all cities where members of the Iron League or the Building Trades Employers' Association have contracts.

India Growers Will Also Reproduce an Ancient Tomb.

In addition to the most elaborate tea exhibit ever planned for any exposition, the Tea Growers' Association of India has applied for space on which to erect a reproduction of the tomb of Elmad-Dowah.

It was first intended to reproduce the Taj Mahal, the world's architectural masterpiece. This was impossible because of religious associations. The tomb of Elmad-Dowah is not so elaborate, but illustrates Indian decorative lines. The tea pavilion will be fitted for serving tea in oriental style.

RECORDER BROWN POISONED.

But Coroner's Jury Doesn't Determine Who Was Murderer.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 29.—The verdict of the coroner's jury on the death of Recorder Joseph Owen Brown was reached last night after 14 sittings. The jury found that Recorder Brown came to his death suddenly at his residence Sunday afternoon, March 15, 1903, from "poison administered by some unknown person or persons."

The death of Recorder Brown occurred a few days after his resignation as city recorder at the close of a year's bitter factional fighting in local politics.

There were vague rumors of suicide at the time, but the death was generally attributed to collapse from overwork and mental stress. The suicide rumors, however, reached J. R. P. Brown, of Nebraska, a brother of the deceased and he came here to investigate, and, on April 25, had the body exhumed from its resting place in Bull Creek cemetery, near Tarentum, Pa., the boyhood home of the recorder, and a post-mortem examination held.

After the post-mortem the vital organs were sent to Philadelphia for a chemical analysis. On June 2 the inquest proper was taken up and has continued at intervals ever since.

MRS. SIRE DIES MYSTERIOUSLY.

Theatrical Man's Wife Said to Have Taken Carbolic Acid.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The coroner's office was notified last night of the death of Mrs. Beatrice Sire, 36 years old, the wife of Albert I. Sire, member of the well-known family of the city.

The case was reported as a case of carbolic acid poisoning. It was explained that the acid had been taken for medicines from overwork and mental stress. The suicide rumors, however, reached J. R. P. PEOPLE in the shoe trade say the growth of the Regal Shoe business has been marvelous.

Mebbe so. P'raps it has. But listen a minute—we know the growth has been rapid—from a mere idea in 1892, to the most extensive retail shoe business in the world in 1903. Remarkable—yes. But the marvel to us is that it has taken so long. The whole problem has been to make people believe the truth, and it is positively astonishing how hard that is to do.

We make the very best shoes that can be produced at any price—and we sell them direct from tannery to wearer at $3.50 a pair. For ten years we've been hammering in that fact till it would certainly seem as if it ought to have been driven clear through and clinched on the other side.

We figure that about a million people have been convinced. That is about the number of Regal wearers. There are nine millions more who ought to have been convinced long ago.

Now, if one million people continuously buy Regal Shoes, it must mean that they are satisfied with style, fit, finish, comfort, wear, and price. That is a sensible, reasonable, inevitable conclusion.

Now tell us—why should you go on paying $5 and $6 a pair for less real style and value than you can get in Regals at $3.50?

Think it over. 60 Regal stores, 20 of them in Greater New York, where the styles originate. The new styles are on sale at our St. Louis store, at the same time as in the New York stores. Other dealers get them a year later.

WE figure that about a million people have been convinced. That is about the number of Regal wearers. There are nine millions more who ought to have been convinced long ago.

CABBAGE TRAIL THIEF'S UNDOING

Vegetables Fell From Wagon Joseph Clark Took and Pursuers Could Trace Him.

Traced by a trail of vegetables which he left behind, Joseph Clark of 2219 Franklin avenue, after a chase of many blocks, was locked up at the Carr Street Police station Friday morning on the charge of stealing a team and wagon, loaded with vegetables, belonging to George McDonald of 1541 North Eighth street.

Clark had such a good start of his pursuers that they were compelled to rely entirely on the vegetable trail, occasioned by his fast driving, in catching him. Not once, from the time they left Third and Biddle streets until they reached Seventeenth street and Cass avenue, did the pursuing party catch sight of the objects of their pursuit.

The wagon with which Clark made away with was driven by David Clancy of 511 Gratiot street. Clancy stopped at a commission house at Third and Biddle streets to get some tomatoes. When he came out of the store his wagon and its $50 load of vegetables was gone.

Clancy jumped into another wagon standing close at hand and with its owner, gave chase. The vegetable trail, here and there a cabbage head, now and then a couple of apples or potatoes, directed them through a maze of streets to Cass avenue, where they caught up with Clark.

Detective Impersonates Former Employer of Alleged Embezzler.

Henry Lanstroth, accused of embezzling $38.30 from his former employer, the Lammert Furniture Co., was arrested at his home, 2115 Mullany street, early Friday morning, and confessed to taking the money.

Lanstroth tells an unusual story of lapse of consciousness. He says he went to a saloon for lunch and drank two glasses of beer. He declares he knows nothing further until he found himself in a box car at St. Charles, without money. He says this remained in St. Charles for seven days, and then came back to St. Louis.

Since his return he has been trying to make a settlement with the furniture company. Detectives Meehan and Schenck heard Thursday night that he was in St. Louis, and went to his home about midnight. McNeill sent word to Lanstroth that he was Wm. Pape, manager of the company, and Lanstroth, thinking Pape had come to make a settlement, got out of bed and came downstairs. He was taken to the Four Courts by the detectives.

TEACHER'S PAY IS TIED UP.

County School Superintendent Will Not Fill Vacant Office.

Friends of Miss Nettie Van Dam, teacher of the Des Peres School, St. Louis County, have asked County School Superintendent Andrae of Clayton to come to her relief by appointment of a president of the Des Peres school board, so that salary warrants can be issued. Since school began in September, Miss Van Dam has received no pay.

Since Charles J. Harwood, former president of the board, moved out of the school district, Messrs. Lindemann and Hart, the remaining members, have been unable to agree on a president. Mr. Andrae has been asked to appoint a president, but that has not made the appointment. He is urging the members of the board to agree.

Father Gnielinski Won His Contention With German.

After being detained by the German government for endeavoring to bring six Polish girls to America to teach parish schools in St. Louis, Father Francis Gnielinski, pastor of St. Catharine's church, has returned to St. Louis.

He convinced the officials of Giltwitz, Germany, that the girls would be educated in an East St. Louis convent, and was permitted to proceed as he had intended. A brass band and a line of carriages greeted the returning priest Thursday night and hundreds assembled to welcome him at the church, Eighth and Mullany streets.

BRYAN ORDERED OFF POSTOFFICE STEPS

Watchman Refused to Let Former Presidential Candidate Speak at Toledo Public Building.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
TOLEDO, O., Oct. 30.—William Jennings Bryan, twice the Democratic nominee for president of the United States, passed through the most humiliating experience of his career in this city last night, when a watchman ordered him off the postoffice steps, where he was preparing to deliver an address.

Two thousand persons had gathered and he was about to open the meeting when the watchman quietly went to Frank Niles, candidate for lieutenant governor, and informed him that Col. Bryan could not speak from the steps, but that he would have to get down on the curb.

Mr. Niles at once made the announcement that the meeting would be held on the corner and the crowd followed Col. Bryan and his escort to the new stand.

"Force-thoughts"

BY SUNNY JIM.

I BELIEVE breakfast is important but not solemn. It is the stepping-stone to what happiness or success the day holds for you.

A day of sunniness and the power to do things is directly related to a dish of "FORCE" as is horse-power of steam to a ton of coal.

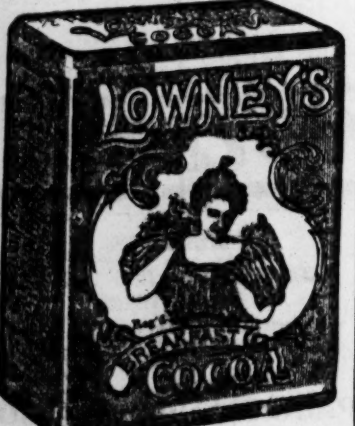

It is wonderful how quickly the body swings in line just as soon as it begins to get the food it ought to have. Almost at once you feel its effects. Tangles untangle. Difficulties dissolve before you get to them.

I don't see how you can hope to finish a day right if you begin it wrong—and the most important part of the beginning is breakfast—which really begins the night before, when you come to think about it. I'll tell you why. In the meantime, Be Sunny.

MURDER SOLVED BY BROTHER'S SUICIDE

Police Convinced Tom Bechtel, Who Ended Life in Cell, Killed Sister.

LIKE TRAGEDY OF "VIRGINIUS" ST. LOUIS WILL BE AFFECTED

Mysterious Letter, Possibly Written by Victim's Sister, Says Saving Girl From Shame Was Motive.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
ALLENTOWN, Pa., Oct. 30.—"Tom, Tom, my boy," cried Mrs. Bechtel at the coroner's inquest into the murder of her daughter, Mabel, when told of the suicide of her son.

Tom, in a prison cell on a charge of complicity in the death, had cut his throat with a hand so steady and strong and a heart so desperate that he all but severed his head from his body.

By his self-slaughter, the brother placed beyond all doubt the belief that he had killed the beautiful, young girl.

Fifteen minutes after Tom's suicide became known, Mayor Lewis received, unsigned, a typewritten note postmarked Philadelphia. The writer declared that Tom Bechtel was the murderer and described the murder and events leading up to it almost exactly in accordance with the theory the police had worked out and which they expect substantiate at the coroner's inquest, which was begun last evening and will be continued this afternoon. The letter in part read:

"She was killed by her brother. The body was taken downstairs with the assistance of the mother and laid in the passageway. The story then made up between them about the carriage.

"The struggle with the girl to get her to release herself from the Jew, Weisenberg, who was dragging her down to infamy, culminated that night in a terrible scene, in which the brother, wrought up to madness, killed her.

"It is the same story of Virginus and his daughter, to save her from Tarquin, with the same result; Tarquin not killed, but the child, by Virginus, and so the cursed Jew, Weisenberg, escaped and the girl paid the penalty of his crime."

Sister May Have Written the Letter.

The letter was addressed to "The Mayor, Allentown, Pa."

The Bechtel girl had a sister named Davis living in Philadelphia. It was she whom the girl visited on Saturday, coming back on Sunday with Weisenberg.

The police suspect that it was this sister who sent the letter, but with no idea that its arrival here would find her brother dead by his own hand.

The story told in the letter tallied so closely with that which the police had followed from one point to another that the inquest was hardly necessary to fasten the crime on Tom.

In view of the fact that the hearing last night had to be adjourned before the examination of the family, the Mayor and district attorney decided to withhold the warrants they had sworn out for the arrest of the mother and her three daughters, also that for Sam, the only brother who did not live at home, and who, the police have ascertained definitely, was not at the house on Sunday or Monday.

They were sent home in a carriage by the police, who will keep them under surveillance until the hearing is continued.

Two Other Brothers and Fiance Locked Up.

Charles and John, the brothers who did live in the house, and were both there on Sunday and Monday nights, according to the police, were locked up on suspicion as was Eckstein, to whom the girl was to have been married Christmas week.

All the warrants are being held until the conclusion of the inquest. Weisenberg, who is being held technically as a witness, was released on the bond he gave Wednesday. He too, is to appear this afternoon.

The suicide of Thomas Bechtel has been followed by the police officials disclosing their theory of the murder of Miss Bechtel when Eckstein accompanied Miss Bechtel to Philadelphia. He left her there and returned home. Weisenberg met her in Philadelphia and accompanied her to Allentown. They went to a certain place together, where they remained until midnight.

Thomas Bechtel heard of this, and being strenuously opposed to Weisenberg, he upbraided the girl in her room upon her return home. He struck her a powerful blow on the cheek, causing her to fall heavily against a bureau.

Members of the family held a council and decided upon the story made public Tuesday and upon the disposition of the body and clothing as found. Charles Bechtel's sister hatchet was used in striking a blow on the head of the dead girl to give semblance of the assault.

This occurred immediately after midnight. The body was concealed in the home until Monday night, when it was placed in the area, where it was found Tuesday morning. Eckstein knew nothing of the murder, the police say.

REFORMS IN GERMAN ARMY.

Kaiser Forbids Abuse of Privates by the Officers.

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—The case of Naval Ensign Hussner, who was recently imprisoned for killing an artilleryman who failed to salute him properly, has resulted in the issuance of an imperial decree against the abuse of privates by officers.

According to this decree an attack on a superior officer by a drunken private will not in the future be considered an insult, and only when the person of the officer is in danger shall he be permitted to use a weapon.

The superior officer who is so attacked, will, to avoid controversy with a private, have the drunkard removed by his comrades. These regulations are to be read to the army and navy every four months.

"Das Zupfenreich," a military drama dealing with a conflict between an officer and a private by Frank Adam Beyerlein, was presented at the Lenox Theater last night and was a success. The Crown Prince was present. Herr Beyerlein is the author of military novel called "Jona and Sedan."

Parks Element in International Iron Workers' Executive Committee Carries Suspension Order.

ST. LOUIS WILL BE AFFECTED

Ten Thousand Members of the Union Expected to Go Out and Tie Up Other Organizations.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The threat of a national strike by the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers to force recognition of local No. 2 by the Iron League and Employers' Association has culminated in a resolution ordering a strike all over the country, to go into effect Saturday, in all cities where members of the Iron League or the Building Trades Employers' Association have contracts.

President Buchanan was in favor of exhausting all efforts to bring about a peaceable settlement but the Parks element thought this too slow and carried the majority with them. Efforts are to be made to bring the new Housewives' Union of New York into line. Notifications will be sent to all the locals in cities where the members of the Iron League of the employers have contracts for iron work. The strike will also affect the inside iron work. The cities which will be affected include St. Louis, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Easton, Chicago, Cleveland and Cincinnati.

The international executive committee estimates that 10,000 iron workers will be directly affected. This would mean the throwing out of work from 10,000 to 15,000 and possibly more workmen in other grades.

TEA EXHIBIT TO BE ELABORATE.

India Growers Will Also Reproduce an Ancient Tomb.

In addition to the most elaborate tea exhibit ever planned for any exposition, the Tea Growers' Association of India has applied for space on which to erect a reproduction of the tomb of Etamad-Dowlah.

It was first intended to reproduce the Taj Mahal, the world's architectural masterpiece. This was impossible because of religious associations. The tomb of Etamad-Dowlah is not so elaborate, but illustrates Indian decorative lines. The tea pavilion will be fitted for serving tea in oriental style.

RECORDER BROWN POISONED. But Coroner's Jury Doesn't Determine Who Was Murderer.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 30.—The verdict of the coroner's jury on the death of Recorder Joseph Owen Brown was reached last night after 14 sittings. The jury found that Recorder Brown came to his death suddenly at his residence Sunday afternoon, March 15, 1935, from "poison administered by some unknown person or persons."

The death of Recorder Brown occurred a few days after his resignation as city recorder at the close of a year's bitter factional fighting in local politics.

There were vague rumors of suicide at the time, but the death was generally attributed to collapse from overwork and mental stress. The suicide rumors, however, reached J. B. Brown of Nebraska, a brother of the deceased and he came here to investigate, and, on April 25, had the body exhumed from its resting place in Bull Creek cemetery, near Tarentum, Pa., the boyhood home of the recorder, and a post-mortem examination held.

After the post-mortem the vital organs were sent to Philadelphia for a chemical analysis. On June 25 the inquest proper was taken up and has continued at intervals ever since.

MRS. SIRE DIES MYSTERIOUSLY. Theatrical Man's Wife Said to Have Taken Carbolic Acid.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The coroner's office was notified last night of the death of Mrs. Beatrice Sire, 26 years old, the wife of Albert I. Sire, member of the well-known family of theatrical managers.

The case was reported as one of carbolic acid poisoning. It was explained that the acid had been taken in mistake for medicine.

Charles Sire, speaker for the family, declared that there was absolutely no truth in the report that his wife had been ill for a long time and had died of heart disease.

The Sire family are theatrical managers. Their theatrical connections one time proprietors of the New York theater and at present the Bijou.

There are nine millions more who ought to have been convinced long ago. Now, if one million people continuously buy Regal Shoes, it must mean that they are satisfied with style, fit, finish, comfort, wear, and price. That is a sensible, reasonable, inevitable conclusion.

Now tell us—why should you go on paying $5 and $6 a pair for less real style and value than you can get in Regals at $3.50?

Think it over.

60 Regal stores, 20 of them in Greater New York, where the styles originate. The new styles are on sale at our St. Louis store, at the same time as in the New York stores. Other dealers get them a year later.

PEOPLE in the shoe trade say the growth of the Regal Shoe business has been marvelous. Mebbe so. P'raps it has. But listen a minute—we know the growth has been rapid—from a mere idea in 1892, to the most extensive retail shoe business in the world in 1933. Remarkable—yes. But the marvel to us is that it has taken so long. The whole problem has been to make people believe the truth, and it is positively astonishing how hard that is to do.

We make the very best shoes that can be produced at any price—and we sell them direct from tannery to wearer at $3.50 a pair. For ten years we've been hammering in that fact till it would certainly seem as if it ought to have been driven clear through and clinched on the other side.

DISOBEDIENT YOUTH KILLED

Father Will Also Die of Injuries Received in Fall From Roof While Chasing Boy.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Disobedience of his father's orders has led to the death of Edward Acton, 7 years old, and the fatal injury of the parent. Young Acton was flying a kite from the roof of their home in Brooklyn. His father ordered him down and forbade the boy's dangerous pastime. A few hours later Acton found Edward on the roof again, and when he saw the boy he ran along the edge, stumbled and fell to the yard, a distance of about 30 feet. Seeing his son falling, and apparently with an idea that he must try to save him at any cost, Acton jumped out into space. He landed nearly 10 feet beyond his unconscious boy.

Crippled and almost dead from the shock of his fall, the father dragged himself to the side of his son, and when an ambulance arrived, had clasped the boy to his arms. Not until the hospital was reached would the father allow the boy to be taken from him. Edward died two hours later, and the father is not expected to recover.

Capt. Herreshoff Has Pneumonia.
HISTORIC, R. I., Oct. 29.—Capt. Nathaniel G. Herreshoff, designer and builder of several American cup defenders, is seriously ill of pneumonia. It is said the disease has not yet reached the critical point, but the patient is in a weakened condition from overwork.

ECZEMA SETS THE SKIN ON FIRE

No disease causes so much bodily discomfort, or itches, burns and stings like Eczema. Beginning often with a slight redness of the skin it gradually spreads, followed by pustules or blisters from which a gummy, sticky fluid oozes which dries and scales off or forms bad looking sores and scabs. It appears on different parts of the body but oftentimes upon the back, arms, hands, legs and face, and is a veritable torment at times, especially at night or when overheated.

The cause of Eczema is a too acid and general unhealthy condition of the blood. The terrifying itching and burning is produced by the overflow through the glands and pores of the skin of the fiery poisons with which the blood-current is over-loaded. While external applications, such as washes, soaps, salves and powders are soothing and cooling they do not enter into the blood itself or touch the real cause of the disease, but S. S. S. does, and purifies, enriches, and strengthens the thin acid blood and cleanses and builds up the general system, when the skin clears off and Eczema with all its terrifying symptoms disappears.

Send for our free book on the skin and its diseases. Medical advice or any special information wanted we give without charge.

HARD, DRY COUGH

Mr. Joseph Radford, of Brooklyn, N. Y., uses Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for Bronchitis and difficulty in breathing.

I suffered a great deal from bronchitis and a hard, dry cough and great trouble in breathing. I was told to use a family cougher as my father and grandfather suffered from bronchitis. They coughed so hard that they would have to hang on to anything they could lay hold of to keep from falling, and I used to do the same.

DR. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP

COMPLETELY CURED ME OF ALL THESE AFFLICTIONS.

I have three children and give them Dr. Bull's cough Syrup when they have a cough or the croup. Joseph Radford, D. D. W. G. P., District Grand Committee No. 3, Order Sons of St. George, 4 Jackson Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.

ALWAYS CURES

My husband has used Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for the last twenty years whenever he has had a cold, and it has always cured him. We would not be without it. Mrs. F. J. Gleich, 895 West Central Ave., St. Paul, Minn.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup cures asthma, croup, bronchitis, grippe, pneumonia, consumption, and all diseases of the throat and lungs.

AVOID SUBSTITUTES. Beware of dangerous and worthless substitutes and imitations which unscrupulous druggists try to force upon you. Look for the "Bull's Head" trademark, and see that you get the genuine Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price, 25c, 50c, and $1.00.

MAYOR TO SHOW HIS HORSES

Fine Animals of His Honor Will Be a Feature of the Horse Show.

A string of horses which will attract a great deal of attention at the St. Louis Horse Show, which opens Monday at the Coliseum, will be the fine blooded animals of Mayor Rolla Wells. Since the last show the mayor has purchased some very fine horses and stylish equipage and trappings. The purchases have been made mainly for the use of Mayor Wells in entertaining his World's Fair visitors, but he will permit the Horse Show visitors to see them in their society behavior.

Another feature will be riding over hurdles by women. A number of St. Louis society women have become proficient at this sort of thing and they will exhibit their skill at the show.

The mayor's horses and the hurdle-riding society women will be pictured in the Sunday Post-Dispatch.

ARTIST'S MODEL LOSES CASE

Miss Belle Yerrick Says Thomas Sigafosse Called Her Names—Defendant Discharged.

Miss Belle Yerrick, aged 22, an artist's model, went on the witness stand in the City Hall police court Friday morning in the case of Thomas Sigafosse, charged with disturbing her peace on the evening of Oct. 5 at 208 Olive street.

Miss Yerrick, stylishly attired with a crimson shirtwaist, skirt and coat, and with silk, a tan jacket and a brown hat, told her story quite unaided by the crowded courtroom.

She testified that about 9 o'clock in the evening mentioned she heard her name called on the stairway leading to the studio of Henry Tees, artist, by whom she was employed. Tees was sitting on the stairs.

Their tete-a-tete was interrupted by the appearance of Mr. and Mrs. Sigafosse, accompanied by a child. Miss Yerrick testified that Mr. Sigafosse ordered her to get up and go to the stairway in an insulting manner, pushed her out of the way and called her names which she hoped the court would not ask her to repeat.

As a result of the altercation Mr. Sigafosse was arrested. Henry Tees sustained Miss Yerrick's statement about the conduct of Mr. Sigafosse.

Sigafosse said that the artist and the model occupied the same room and that he first let him pass. Finally he stepped between them, and his wife, in trying to follow, tripped and fell, he declared. Sigafosse was discharged.

FUNERAL OF PROF. CULLER

Remains of the Young High School Teacher Taken to Strasburg, Va.

The body of Prof. D. F. Culler, instructor of modern languages at the Central High School, was shipped Friday to Strasburg, Va., where it will be interred. Mrs. Culler and Prof. Isaac Johnson, of the high school faculty accompanied the remains.

Prof. Culler died Thursday morning at his home, 5655 Vernon avenue, after suffering for five days with appendicitis.

He was one of the most popular instructors at the high school. He introduced the study of Spanish into the school, and his instruction in this branch made the study so popular that the Spanish classes were larger than any of the other language classes, except the Latin, which students are compelled to take. During this time Spanish has been entirely optional.

Mr. Culler was 32 years old. He was born in Martinsburg, W. Va. He completed courses in a number of small colleges and then gave his attention to the study of languages, taking courses at Yale and Pennsylvania, receiving the degree A. B. from the latter college.

He gave special attention to the Spanish language, making a voyage to Spain for the purpose of familiarizing himself with it. Five years ago he entered on his career as an instructor of the Spanish tongue, and three years ago joined the faculty of the Central High School.

He was married less than one year ago to Miss Julia Abbott of Strasburg, Va.

STRIKE CASES CONTINUED.

Express Companies Will Place Private Watchmen on Wagons.

C. P. Wickliffe and H. Jurgson, two striking employees of the Pacific Express Co., are charged with disturbance of the peace, on complaint of Thomas B. Harvey, messenger on an express wagon at Eighteenth street and Clark avenue.

L. J. Starr, an employee of the Wells Fargo Express Co., is charged with having thrown a brick at Joseph H. Hoskins, driver of a wagon, at Twelfth and St. Charles streets, 24th offense are alleged to have been committed Thursday.

The cases were continued Friday morning until Nov. 1.

Attorney R. G. Meigs, representing the express companies, said that it was their intention to swear in enough private watchmen Friday to put a guard on each express wagon in addition to the driver. Most of the express companies sent out the usual number of wagons Friday morning, manned by new men.

Brain Injured by Fall.
It is feared that the injuries which Samuel M. Stone of 4204 Kensington avenue sustained in a fall from a ladder may prove fatal. It is stated at St. Luke's Hospital, where he is being treated, that a serious concussion resulted. Mr. Stone, who is a buyer for the Simmons Hardware Co., was taking stock at the company's main warehouse when he lost his balance and fell 15 feet, his head striking the floor.

FINANCIAL NEWS. A VERY DULL DAY WITH A NARROW RANGE

Trading Was Lighter Throughout the Day, With Call Money Firm on Account of Heavy Cash Shipments.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The market opened dull and lower this morning. London came lower and with no orders for early execution.

The heavy shipments of cash to the interior continue to cause some worry here, traders fearing that the drain will cause some very high interest rates, which will naturally discourage buying. The 6 per cent rate yesterday was firmly held and the prospects this morning were that even higher prices would be demanded for money. As loans made today hold over until Monday, it is natural that the lenders will want a good price for their money during that period.

There is continued talk of gold imports, but none have been spoken of as far as known. With any advance in interest rates, and a continuation of the present rates of foreign exchange, or lower rates, it is quite probable that foreign capital will come this way.

The action of the Pennsylvania in putting out more bonds at the present time is severely criticized, but it is looked on as an advance sale, as the bonds in all probability will go at a premium. The thought seems to impress the bond world that the Pennsylvania is getting out too many bonds and there is a feeling that if there would be any dropping off in traffic, the road will be unable to continue dividends on its largely increased stock.

The railroads are all curtailing their expenses and are making very few new contracts for either equipment or betterments. The bankers are said to be discouraging any large expenditures under present circumstances.

The trading during the first half hour continued dull and prices were inclined to drop.

The opening prices and changes were as follows: Copper 8 1/2, advance 1/4; Atchafalaya 1/2, decline 1/4; Erie 1/2, unchanged; Missouri Pacific 1/2, decline 1/4; New York Central 1/2, decline 1/4; Pennsylvania 1/2, decline 1/4; Rock Island 1/2, unchanged; Reading 1/2, decline 1/4; St. Paul 1/2, decline 1/4; Southern Pacific 1/2, decline 1/4; Sugar 1 1/2, decline 1/4; Union Pacific 1/2, unchanged; Steel common 1/2, advance 1/4; Steel preferred 1/2, decline 1/4.

The market continued in an abnormally low condition all through the morning and beyond the noon hour. Trading was but nominal and the range of prices was extremely narrow. The steel stocks were somewhat weaker, but the decline was only fractional.

The operations of the banks with the clearing house show that since Friday there has been a loss of cash in that manner of $7,500,000, and the indications were that there was a further loss of $4,000,000. This will naturally indicate a decidedly bad bank statement, but the general impression is that this has been already discounted.

Rates did not harden as expected, the early rate of 6 per cent covered most of the loans and there was then a drop of 1/4. Brooklyn Rapid Transit continues to be tipped for an advance, the reason assigned being that the road is showing some remarkably heavy earnings.

The market continued to drag along in a desultory manner, with prices varying but slightly throughout the day. Manhattan, on the strength of a possible Tammany election and favorable legislation at the hands of the Tammany leaders, was a feature in the market. Metropolitan, but the aggregate amount of sales of both was small.

The sales to noon were but $9,800 shares, which is a fair indication of the manner in which the trading was done. Money was some easier at the close and in good supply.

The close was intensely dull and the last prices were but little changed from the opening.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Opening prices of stocks were inclined to follow the downward tendency of the London market, although the depression in London was due to fears of a rise in exports to New York. Changes were small in all cases and United

ONLY A SUGGESTION.

But it has Proven of Interest and Value to Thousands.

Common sense would suggest that if one wishes to become fleshy and plump it can only result from the food we eat and digest, and that food should be abundant and flesh forming food, like eggs, beefsteak and cereals; in other words the kinds of food that make flesh are the foods which form the greater part of our daily bills of fare.

But the trouble is that while we eat enough and generally too much, the stomach, from abuse and overwork, does not properly digest and assimilate it, which is the reason so many people remain thin and under weight; the digestive organs do not completely digest the food forming beefsteak and eggs and similar wholesome food.

There are thousands of such who are really confirmed dyspeptics, although they may have no particular pain or inconvenience from their stomachs.

If such persons would lay their prejudices aside and make a regular practice of taking after each meal one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets the food would be quickly and thoroughly digested, because these tablets contain the natural pepsines and diastase which every weak stomach lacks, and by supplying this want stomach is soon enabled to reach a natural tone and vigor.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digest every form of flesh forming food, meat, eggs, bread and potatoes, and this is the reason they so quickly build up, strengthen and invigorate thin, dyspeptic men, women and children.

Invalids and children, even the most delicate, use them with marked benefit as they contain no strong irritating drugs, no cathartic nor any harmful ingredient.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the most successful and most widely known of any remedy for stomach troubles because it is the most reasonable and scientific of modern medicine.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by every druggist in the United States and Canada as well as in Great Britain, at 30 cents for complete treatment.

Nothing further is required to cure any stomach trouble or to make thin, nervous, dyspeptic people, strong, plump and well.

Stations Steel and Amalgamated hardened a shade. Liquidation of the minor specialties in the absence of any sustaining demand for prices gradually downward, but there was no pressure of consequence against the active stocks. The general market did not get far away from yesterday's closing prices and speculation became exceedingly dull and slow as offerings ceased. International Power declined 1/4, Republic Steel preferred 2, Pressed Steel 1, preferred 1, Kansas & Texas preferred 1, and United States Steel preferred 1/4. Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie preferred dropped 1 point.

Prices hardened slightly, but the trading was very apathetic. Republic Steel raised a point, Illinois Central declined 1/4, and until Monday, it is natural that the lenders will want a good price for their money during that period.

Moderate purchases of the local traction stock continued some slight speculative interest at other points, but the improvement in the standard stocks was small. Western stocks recovered to yesterday's final prices and then became neglected. Metropolitan, St. Paul & Northern Pacific and Smelting gained 1/4, while National Lead fell off about as much.

Setting the football and election results occupied more of the attention of the market as a result was practically lifeless.

Continues Dull ON LOCAL STOCKS

Lack of Interest in Speculation Was Again Apparent in Today's Market.

The market continued dull again today, with trading at a low aggregate. Transit was about the liveliest, if there was such a thing as a lively stock, and led the list with sales of 100 shares at $14 1/2 and $14 1/4.

The close showed active bidding at $14 1/2. The United Railways preferred figured in the sales only to the extent of 5 shares at $61. The bonds were strongly held but did not sell.

Central Coal & Coke was again strong and maintained the price of $50, which was the last quotation yesterday.

A single Brewery bond changed hands at $50.

WALL STREET NOTES.

An official of American Car Foundry denies the report that unless the business of the company increases 50 per cent within the next few months it would be policy to pass the dividend on common. The company is doing an extremely good business, according to this official who says the preferred dividend has been earned in the first four months of the present fiscal year, and that it has on its books orders more than sufficient to provide for the common dividend for the entire year.

The heavy expenditures being made by the Federal treasury on account of civil and miscellaneous expenses will cause a deficit this month of several millions. Putting out this money at this time tends to continue easy money. Since Sept. 1, when Secretary Shaw commenced his refunding and redemption operations, there has been this outflow of money from the treasury: Redemption of $8,800,000; refunding operations, $29,200; expenditures of the government, $82,000,000.

Exports of merchandise from the port of New York for last week were valued at $11,343,000, compared with $12,727,456 in the preceding week and $10,179,455 in the corresponding week last year. Total since Jan. 1, 1932, $1,402,915,734, against $88,504,192 in the corresponding period last year.

Apple Growers Are to Meet.

COLLAPSE OF THE GROCERS' COMBINE

The Consolidated Company Composed of Retailers, Goes Out of Business.

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 30.—H. W. McQuaid, a prominent grocer of Des Moines, and interested in a number of other grocery stores, today announced the end of the Consolidated Grocers of America, which was organized last February with $1,500,000 capital, and which it was proposed should control the leading retail grocery stores of the country.

It was organized by Flavel Shortleff, a retail grocer of Peoria, and N. Kavin of Chicago. Two Peoria stores were secured and afterwards four in Chicago, one in Galesburg, and the store of W. V. McQuaid of St. Paul.

Later, H. W. McQuaid of Des Moines obtained an interest. Mr. Shortleff dropping out. One of the Peoria stores closed last Saturday, and Mr. McQuaid says the other will close tomorrow night.

The closing of the stores in Chicago and Galesburg will follow, but the McQuaids will continue the Des Moines and St. Paul stores. Mr. McQuaid assigns as a reason for the closing of the several stores that the Consolidated Grocers of America was not a financial success. The stores were not paying ventures and the company will go out of existence.

FORTY DOLLARS A YEAR AND BOARD SALARY OF TAILOR'S EMPLOYE

Two Years' Experience of His Contract Wearies Man Who Came From Germany Under Agreement to Labor for a Nominal Sum.

Through a suit on a note, tried Friday morning in Justice Blumhart's court, it develops that August Zips, the plaintiff, was brought to St. Louis from Germany several years ago by the Boehm Ladies' Tailoring Co. of 308 Lindell avenue to work for that concern for $40 a year and board.

According to the testimony, Zips worked for two years for $80. Then he began to realize that he was not receiving a very large salary and succeeded in securing an advance to $15 a month. A note, bearing date Oct. 2, 1932, was given to him in payment of salary due.

It was on this note that Zips brought suit. He has given judgment.

SUBURBAN TO ENTER "PIKE"

The Suburban Railroad Co. is negotiating with the owners of the Catlin tract for the construction of two loops into their property near the northeast and northwest corners of the World's Fair grounds.

The Suburban proposes to run one branch line from its Union avenue tracks to a point near De Baliviere and Lindell avenues and another from its tracks going south from Delmar Garden to a point on Skinner road near the west end of "The Pike."

Being designed to handle the crowds during the World's Fair, it is planned that the loops shall be double tracked and, possibly, contain three or four tracks each. The plan for the eastern loop is to have it begin at the present terminus of the Union avenue division, in front of the Union avenue entrance to Forest Park and there cross the Washburn street tracks, either by going under or over them.

The loop will be made near the corner of De Baliviere and Lindell avenues.

SIGNALLER IMPALED BY A SWITCH ROD

Terrible Injury Inflicted on Man Hanging From Side of a Box Car.

William Emery, while hanging on the side grab iron of a freight car in the Venice yards, Friday morning, swung too far out, and his body was caught by the upright rod of a switch stand.

His grip on the grab iron was torn loose and he was impaled on the switch stand. The man's pitiful cries for assistance attracted the attention of switchmen, and he was released, but not without great difficulty.

At the time the accident happened, Emery was riding a cut of cars onto a switch. He was leaning out to signal the engineer, his back being toward the switch stand.

He was caught in the side, the upright rod tearing at his side. While he was impaled on the rod, he was truly conscious, and directed those who came to his assistance in their work.

At his own request Emery was taken to his home in Brooklyn.

It is not thought possible that he can survive his injuries.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 30.—Michigan's football eleven left here for Minneapolis yesterday morning for what is expected by Coach Yost to be the hardest game of the schedule—that with Minnesota University. A special coach was needed to carry the squad. Yost took every serviceable man with him, but the line-up which will face the Gophers he will not give out. The line-up of the regulars at their last practice was as follows:

The physical condition of the eleven was pronounced satisfactory and Yost is satisfied with the work he had obtained from his men.

Still the walkover that Michigan had for two years is not expected, if one would believe Michigan's coach.

"Minnesota is a formidable aggregation," he said prior to the departure of the train. "You have only to look at their record to see that. The team has played 10 strong eleven and won 9 victories, rolling up the phenomenal total of 375 points. It is true it has been scored on, but scores are accidents, likely to happen in these times, with small discredit to an eleven."

He told the story of Minnesota's 10-0 win over Iowa playing a rattling game these days.

Other Big Games in West.

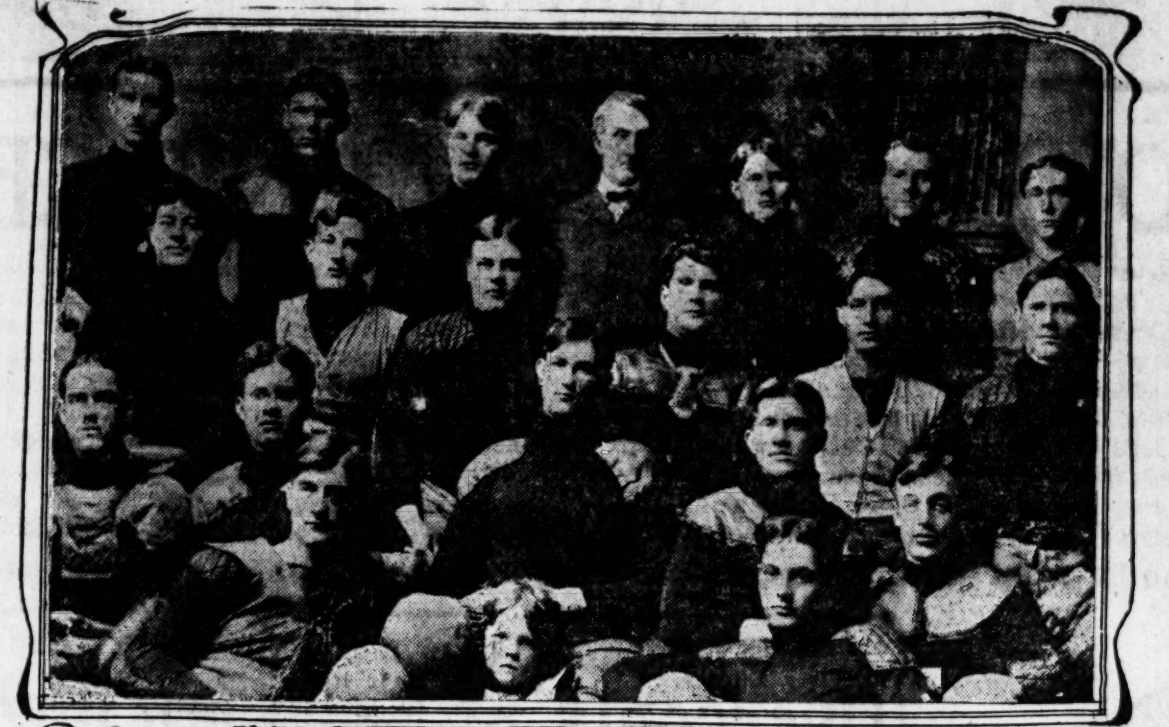

"My eleven is geared to its best, however, and Minnesota will have to be a wonder to win."

Beside the Michigan game Saturday, enthusiasts here look with interest on the nearby battles between Chicago and Wisconsin, Illinois and Northwestern and other big games of the west.

On the records of the teams this season Wisconsin, Chicago, Minnesota and Michigan now have a chance for the western championship, and Saturday's contests will narrow the race down to two.

Chicago and Michigan are favorites for STRONG KIRKSVILLE TEAM TO PLAY C. B. C.

THE OSTEOPATH FOOTBALL SQUAD

Coach O'Dea's Kirkville team will be the principal football attraction on local gridirons Saturday. The eleven will arrive here Friday night, accompanied by a crowd of rooters from the Kirkville University.

The Bone Doctors meet Todd's C. B. C. lightweights on the college campus Saturday and few are expecting the college team to win, even with Rordan in his best form.

The Osteopaths have met some of the best teams in the country. Illinois and Wisconsin are among the teams played and both institutions trounced the Kirkvillians soundly. O'Dea has been working hard with his men since the Wisconsin game, however, and the eleven will be a hard proposition for the locals.

The Osteopaths have lost one or two players from the formidable aggregation last season, among them was a great plunger, Van Doren. He was a terror for the college lads last year, and C. B. C. will go into the game with the strongest team it has presented this season. Jordan, the big lineman, will be in the game, and Rordan has been saved for this contest from the first of the season.

The officials have not yet been named, but Bland and Dougherty will probably work.

The finals, but Wisconsin and Minnesota have great records. Michigan still stands premier of the lot.

It has played five games, won five, scored 361 points—an average of over 72 points per game—and its goal line is yet uncrossed. The other three teams have each been scored on fairly once, but Wisconsin has the best average score against opponents, 61.

Figures will prove of small value between teams so closely matched, however, and the issue can be predicted by no man.

Dan Patch, half-mile in :56; world's record for pacers.

The Monk and Equity, one mile in 2:06; world's record for trotters hit to pole.

Lou Dillon, besides her records, won special distinction by defeating her rival, Major Dillon, in the gold challenge cup event for amateur drivers.

ROLLA GAME MAY BE PLAYED HERE

Washington Offers to Pay All Expenses and It Is Thought Miners Will Accept.

Washington University is making an effort to have the game with Rolla played at League Park Saturday, instead of at Rolla, Mo., as was scheduled.

The list of officials sent to the Rolla management was returned yesterday with the comment that none of them could be secured to officiate. It was stated that competent officials could be obtained from among the football critics at Rolla, Mo.

Up to noon no word had been received from Rolla, but it was thought Rolla would accept.

Washington had a big squad and a fine practice yesterday afternoon. The regulars played with a dash and speed that swept the scrubs from their feet.

Boynston watched with something of interest the improvement in his men, and the outlook for a Rolla victory is slim, should the eleven play Saturday.

St. Louis U. Plays Drury Saturday.

Coach Delaney of St. Louis University yesterday got a line on how much he has to do with his St. Louis University beef before he will have an eleven that can face C. B. C. with a good chance to win.

Smith Academy and the varsity went through a stiff scrimmage practice, and as a result Smith backed the university men repeatedly for steady gains, and before the practice was over had crossed the enemy's goal line once and dropped a goal from the field in addition. The varsity was confident neither on offense nor defense.

The general opinion that the game Wednesday with Warrensburg was a poor try-out was borne out.

Toward the close of practice, the varsity got a better feel of the field, and straight down the field for seventy yards, only to lose it on a fumble.

St. Louis University plays Drury College Tuesday and will have improved much in that time. The varsity will be a good deal better than they were at the time of the scrimmage.

In any event, every man of the team will return next year with one exception, and the varsity should surely be formidable then.

If Rolla's 5 to 0 score against Warrensburg was any indication of its form, Rolla is not within many points of the myrtle and maroon eleven.

Officials at the Rolla game, however, state that the Miners were capable of beating the Warrensburg team much more soundly than they did and only a series of mischances prevented a larger score.

Coach Todd is working like a Trojan with his St. Louis University eleven for Saturday's game with the Osteopaths. Rordan is in much improved form and his kicking should again neutralize much of the Osteopaths' advantage in other respects.

It is doubtful if the Kirkville team is as strong as the eleven of last year, and C. B. C. gave that aggregation the scare of its life.

Jordan's presence in the line has given the college team an added confidence.

USED BLACK BEAR FOR "DUMMY"

Yale Football Squad Makes Unique Use of Present Given to Trainer Murphy.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 30.—A black bear, which was sent to Trainer "Mike" Murphy, of the Yale football team, by D. W. Pranchot, the Yale runner, was used by the Yale gridiron warriors today for warming up practice at the gymnasium.

It was quartered at the gymnasium. When let out by a crowd of freshmen, it chased the 193 men all over the gymnasium lot. One man climbed the fence and others took refuge inside the gymnasium.

Dr. Russell Chittenden, diet soldiers captured brain and tied him with a long rope. Then the varsity football men began making flying tackles. The bear took them good naturally, but several men were scratched.

The bear will be a Yale mascot at the Columbia game Saturday.

Football League Elects Officers.

James Rordan, president; Chester Mulick, vice-president, and Brother Elgar, secretary and treasurer, are the officers elected by the Parish Football League for the present season. Another meeting of the league will be held at Christian Brothers' College, Monday evening.

JEFFRIES REFUSES TO MEET JOE GRIM

Champion Afraid He Might Commit Murder If He Fought Italian Boxer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Joe Grim, the Italian boxer who has redoubled the efforts of some of the best heavyweights in the game to knock him out, and who issued a challenge to Champion Jim Jeffries, will not have a chance to face the boilermaker. Although Grim has announced his willingness to meet the champion in a six-round contest before one of the Philadelphia clubs, Jeffries has decided to pay no attention to the Italian's def.

The champion says that he does not want to kill the boxing game and that by meeting Grim he might do him considerable damage and bring the game into disrepute. Jeffries does not believe that the public wants to see such a one-sided match, and would have more than 9 pounds advantage over Grim in weight.

"When I enter the ring," said Jeffries, "I want to give the public a run for his money. I am not looking for any easy marks like Grim. Grim may be able to stand considerable punishment, but there is no doubt that I could put him out. However, I do not intend to take him on under any circumstances."

"Why, I understand Grim is only a welterweight. It would be a shame for me to fight him, and I am sure that such a match would do the game no good. When I fight I want the public to see a good fight. With a man like Grim it would be simply a walkover, and there is no credit in winning such battles."

JEFF WON'T PLAY WITH JIM

Plans for Theatrical Tour of Corbett and the Champion Have Gone Awry.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Champion Jim Jeffries and Jim Corbett will not double up as it was thought they would and go on the road giving boxing exhibitions. When Jeffries arrived in town it was expected arrangements would be completed whereby these two big fellows would come to an understanding and tour the country. Both men were perfectly willing to do so, but as Corbett had previously signed a contract to tour the country giving his monologue act, the arrangements fell through.

English Lad Beat Good Field.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—English Lad, carrying top weight, 132 pounds, established himself as the champion 2-year-old of the year by winning the big handicap at a mile in 1:14½ yesterday. He beat such good ones as Blenheim, Dan Patch, Bob Dick, Dick, and others.

BAPTISTE WILL MEET ADAMSON

Match for Opening of the New Coliseum of the West End Club, Nov. 5.

Ed Adamson will probably be George Baptiste's opponent at the opening of the new coliseum of the West End Club Nov. 5. Baptiste agreed to wrestle the winner of the Adamson-Beall bout which took place at Marshfield, Wis., last night.

Adamson, this morning wired the Post-Dispatch from that place stating that he would wrestle Baptiste again for a 400 side bet.

As Baptiste considers Adamson his inferior, and recently defeated him in a desperate struggle, the terms will probably be accepted.

Baptiste said this morning he was willing to wrestle either Beall or Adamson not before Nov. 5.

Nothing has been heard in the past few days of the alleged jumping of Jake Beckley to the outlaw Pacific Coast League. The chances are that the big first baseman will remain true to Cincinnati as long as Cincinnati gives him the opportunity of remaining true.

SANTRY KNOCKED OUT BY HERRERA

Mexican Pugilist Put Chicagoan Out in Thirteenth Round—Santry Had Best of the Fight.

ANACONDA, Mont., Oct. 30.—Aurelio Herrera, the lightweight Mexican pugilist, last night knocked out Eddie Santry of Chicago in the thirteenth round of what was to have been a 20-round go.

Herrera had been the favorite in the betting until the first five rounds, when the Santry backers offered odds on their man, with few takers. Santry had all the best of the fight up to the last round, breaking through the Mexican's peculiar guards as no other fighter has yet been able to do.

Santry forced the fighting throughout, and was plainly Herrera's superior in science, but failed to deliver a knockout, and while mixing it fiercely in the thirteenth round received a terrific short-arm jolt behind the ear, and went down and out.

Manager Hanlon declares that there is no prospect of Cincinnati getting Outfielder Jimmy Sheppard of his team.

RINGER'S TRAINER NOT PROSECUTED

Circuit Court at Clayton Dismisses the Case Against Oscar Rhodes.

Oscar Rhodes, charged with having entered a horse named "Abbie J." in a race at Delmar track Aug. 8 under the name of "Untrue," was dismissed by the circuit court at Clayton Friday morning as the result of a sole process entered by the state.

The case was dismissed, so it was explained, because Rhodes was merely a trainer and it was doubtful whether it could be shown that he had personally entered the horse.

Other parties are under indictment for this same offense, but no arrests have yet been made.

Robert Lee Hedges, who was reported badly injured while leaving a train at Cincinnati this week, will be in St. Louis not later than Nov. 2, and possibly today.

The Browns' secretary communicated with Assistant Secretary Mercer yesterday to this effect. He made no mention of being injured in his letter or of being confined to his room from the effect of one, as reports stated.

It is believed that Hedges will be in St. Louis by the time the Browns leave for Cincinnati.

MAYOR GIVES REFORM ORDER

"Understandings" Between Board of Health and Collectors Are Officially Called Off.

There is trouble brewing for both the garbage maker and the garbage collector. Both must obey the letter of the ordinance, and "understandings" between the garbage contractors and the board of health, or between the householder and the garbage collector, will avail naught. Mayor Wells took the bit in his teeth at the last meeting of the board of health, and expressing a belief in the doctrine of equal rights for all, declared that in the eyes of the law there was no difference between the garbage maker and the garbage collector, but that the ill assorted collection of smells arising from alleys and garbage wagons must cease. The date of the garbage reformation has not been set, but will be fixed by the board of health at the next meeting. When that is selected, notices printed in three languages will be distributed to all householders by the police. These notices will give the proper instructions for the preparation of strictly legal garbage. Failure to follow the instructions so delivered will be considered a proper excuse for inflicting a $1 and costs in police court. The garbage collectors will be comed to make daily trips over their terry and to COLLECT GARBAGE LE--LY PREPARED.

NEGRO CHOKES A WHITE GIRL.

Father and Neighbors Make Long
Search for Alley Prowler.

The police are looking for a light-skinned negro, about 25 years old, who is accused by Miss Alvina Schneider, 17 years old of 286 Wash street, of having choked her and dragged her into an alley in the rear of 214 Wash street Thursday evening.

Miss Schneider says the negro stopped her by asking the time, then clapped his hand over her mouth and began to choke
her. She became unconscious from fright, and when she regained her senses the negro had fled.

She made her way home, and told her story to her father, who, with several neighbors, made a long but fruitless search for the negro.

Confidence has returned even to the stocking depositors.
Oil is slippery, but what oil inspector lets the fees slip away from him?

St. Louis is the solid city. The only effect of the flurry is to make it solidier than ever.

Deeper channels and better levees should engage the attention of Congress right away after Cuban reciprocity.

Free trade and union with the United States are what Canada most needs. Independence would not benefit her much.

CHECKING A PANIC.

The substantial character of St. Louis business and solidity and strength of local financial institutions were demonstrated during the absurd flurry of Tuesday and Wednesday.

A panic is only insane fear. Panics have wrecked many a market and ruined many solvent financial and business institutions. But this panic was nipped in the bud, checked in its incipient stages, by a cool demonstration of the fact that there was nothing to fear.

The combined wealth and common sense of the community stepped forward to reassure the frightened depositors. The fact of invincible solvency was made plain, and the panic evaporated. It was a rare example of the power of fact when presented in the light of common sense.

St. Louis is the most prosperous city in the country. There may have been losses during the past few months of decline, and some fortunes may be impaired, but these do not affect the business community at large, nor have they injured any financial institutions. The business of St. Louis is conducted on a safe, conservative basis. There is no speculative element in it, or if there is, it affects only individuals. The community is safe.

Mr. Chamberlain's proposals to bind the empire together do not seem to appeal to the Canadians.

MR. GARFIELD'S OPPORTUNITY.

Have Secretary Cordell of the Department of Commerce and Commissioner Garfield of the Bureau of Corporations taken official notice of the Shipbuilding Trust?

This windy adventure was initiated by a lot of dummy directors, who increased the stock from $3000 to $45,000,000 and authorized a bond issue of $20,000,000. Moreover, they authorized the delivery to C. M. Schwab of $10,000,000 in bonds and $20,000,000 in stock.

These dummies were youngsters whose interest in the enterprise did not exceed $100. One of them had served as director in the Shipbuilding Trust. Another was a director of 50 or 60 other corporations in no real interest.

Garfield, who works under Secretary Cordell, has the power to investigate corporations. Has he information concerning these 50 or 60 concerns many spy office boys?

Investing public would like to know something about the shares of which are issued by these youthful apocryphs. Do they conceive the bubbles that they blow? If the Department of Commerce and the Bureau of Corporations are not merely ornamental, such phenomena of precocity should be carefully studied.

In Pennsylvania there is not much reliance on naturalization. Unlimited stuffing of ballot boxes does the business there.

A MISTAKE IN FOUNDING A LIBRARY.

The Goodwin Library of Philadelphia was one of the most notable private collections of books in the country. It had in it all the material for developing the human brain in all the arts and sciences.

When it is being scattered by auction sale, it is explained that an unmistakable flaw developed in the title to the million dollars which enabled Mr. Goodwin to found the library.

He stole money. His desire to found a library was so strong that it led him to the appropriation of other people's money in ways forbidden by the laws of Pennsylvania.

This was a very dummy proceeding. By forming a merger under the Pennsylvania idea expressed in the tariff duty on steel and marketing the undigested securities on the Schwab plan, Mr. Goodwin might have put himself in a position to endow a dozen libraries with his common stock and still leave himself the bonds and the preferred.

The mistake made by Mr. Goodwin was in becoming a bibliomaniac and a kleptomaniac instead of a financier and a philanthropist.

Hawaii is loyal and is loyally seeking appropriations.

"PLAY WHILE YOU PLAY."

The golf playing of Miss Rhona Adair, England's woman golf champion, has opened the eyes of some of our players at this and other games of skill. It has not only proved that women can drive a ball in a scientific manner, but that the fault of being too seriously and strenuously is now to be found among Americans rather than among their British cousins.

Writing editor of Collier's Weekly says: "The English Miss Adair also, exhibit a certain careless ease in that has surprised many of the hard-working players. The fact has often been mentioned that the American golfer works too hard over his game. That is, he gives a greater appearance of seriousness and intense desire to win than is apparent in the play of the foreigners."

Over-strenuous people interpret the adage "Play while you play" so that it means to them "Work while you play." They are continually in what might be called a flying wedge frame of mind. This spirit of over-strenuousness is what has made our football field the scene of so many fatalities. We need to put more art and happy carelessness into our playing. Let us play while we play, in the good old sense which the words once bore.

The hard coal consumer will be delighted to learn that the hard coal market is "under perfect control" and that "perfect control" of the soft coal market will be attempted. The "agents of Providence" are not in business for the public health or convenience.

COL. GREGG'S RESIGNATION.

The niggardly action of the Missouri World's Fair commission in appropriating only $20,000 for a mineral exhibit is a deplorable mistake. It is a contemptuous reflection upon the mineral interests of the state and Col. Gregg could not have done otherwise than to resign. It was the only thing he could do.

The marvel of the commission's action is inexplicable. Missouri's mineral resources are so vast, the interests which have grown out of them so valuable, and their importance in the country's industrial activities so universally acknowledged that the commission's neglect can be attributed to nothing but blindness.

It is not too late to correct the error, however. Public sentiment throughout the state is unanimous in desiring an adequate representation of all Missouri resources at the Fair. The two great industries are agriculture and mining. Every kind of mineral is found in Missouri in paying quantities except the precious metals. And the people of the state undoubtedly desire to make an impressive exhibit which shall convince the world. For such a purpose a $20,000 exhibit will be worse than none at all.

The Canadians don't know whether to regard John Bull as a Goth or as a shameless Hun.

MRS. BOOTH-TUCKER.

In the death of Mrs. Booth-Tucker the world loses one of its most unselfish and capable personalities.

Mrs. Booth-Tucker's life was one of service. She gave herself to humanity without reserve. By her work she was an invaluable co-operator with her father and her husband in building up a great organization for good in the world. And she threw light and love into many hearts, encouraging the failing, uplifting the fallen and strengthening all who came within the sphere of her power. In such hearts she built her monument. The good she did lives after her to make more good. Her mission was not closed by her untimely death, but will continue active as long as there is evil in the world to be converted into good.

There is an emphatic denial of rumors of a concerted effort of western railways to reduce wages. The reductions are to be in construction and improvement work, it is said, and will have no effect upon wages. The roads have been very prosperous and are only tending to conservatism.

Pity that the animosities of 40 years ago should survive in the hearts of Lieut. Wright and Miss Sartoris. Perhaps neither young thing has more than a hazy notion of what the row was all about.

Sartoris is a very fresh young man. He would plunge his country into a long and bloody war to obtain what will eventually come to us peacefully.

The President has wished all success to the levee convention. Some of the great tariff tax levy should be devoted to the levees.

PIE AND I.

Best of friends we used to be,
Pie and I;
Now we cannot quite agree,
Pie and I.
Once we were as thick as three
In a bed, and merrily
Gustatory stunts did we,
Pie and I.

When the meats were cleared away,
Pie and I
Mingled then without delay;
Pie and I
Used to think it lots of fun,
When the heavy meal was done,
To associate as one—
Pie and I.

But we had a falling out,
Pie and I.
Never mind what 'twas about!
Pie and I
Know full well the reason why—
Know why we, although we sigh,
Never speak as we pass by,
Pie and I.

Will we never speak again,
Pie and I?
Will we never seek again,
Pie and I?
For delights that once were sweet,
Full, delicious and complete?
Must we frown whenever we meet,
Pie and I?

About Marriages.

An Illinois man declares (or states—the newspapers always say "states") that he was married two years and three months ago and remembers nothing about it.

Well, of course, not.
Where is the man who ever got married who remembers anything about it?
He may have had a hazy recollection about it when the first month's bills commenced to come in, and when he realized that he was up against a hard proposition, but before that time what did he know about it?

We hear a great deal about the blushing bride, but who ever hears anything about the blushing groom? Yet who has any greater cause to blush than the party of the first part in a marriage?

Who on earth has more effrontery than a bridegroom?

It may seem a simple thing for a man to get married, yet who on earth has a more formidable contract on his hands than the man who legally pledges himself to take care of a woman for life or until death do them part?

The man who buys a house, a farm, a foundry or a piece of land is the President of the United States has a tolerably large job on his hands, but the man who starts in to raise a family has a still greater.

What is being the head of a nation to being the foreman of a family?
Anybody, almost, can be President, but it takes a man to be the founder of a family, which is the unit of all government.

What wonder, then, that the Illinois bridegroom in question should have forgotten that he was married. Would it not have been more surprising had he not forgotten?

A Pessimistic View.

Whether the soul is happy,
Whether the mind is happy,
Whether the mind is happy,
Or virtue or love be its aid,

MISSOURI ODD FACTS.

In Saline County Deputy Sheriff Bacon severely beat a Negro man, found an iron tank containing 50 barrels of coal oil on a dike in the Missouri river near his farm. It is supposed that the tank left Kansas City during the flood last spring and was slowly propelled by the water along the bottom of the river until it finally settled in the depression where it was found.

About a dozen Steinmuts men received notices a few days ago informing them that a St. Louis man was waiting each of them at the express office, and inviting them to call, pay charges and get it.

It turned out that they were gallon jugs of "kerkytaw hardware," which an enterprising distiller had sent to the recipients' addresses without first getting their consent. The enterprising distiller got all his jugs and their contents back.

"Jim's gittin' to be a famous man in Missouri," said a Negro Missouri mother to a visitor the other day. "How's that?" asked the visitor. "Why, first he got hisself 'lected to the state legislature," replied Jim's mother, "then they started a-callin' him major, an' now he's bin 'cused up 'soddin' an' he's bin writ up 'splendid in the papers."

THE UP-TO-DATE BUNNY.

One day Mr. Rabbit was loping around the woods, looking for whatever might satisfy his hopeless appetite, when he espied a large trap set by Mr. Man. He walked up cautiously and inspected it. Inside was a luscious looking chestnut. Mr. Rabbit's mouth watered, but being an up-to-date rabbit he sat on his haunches and considered.

"Huh!" said he. "That sort of thing is played out. Might have fooled my granddaddy, but he's got to play a foxier game than this to catch yours truly."
"Wonder how I'll get that chestnut, though."

It didn't take him long. In a moment he was off on a trot to Mr. Man's cabin in the woods, and banging on his back door.

"Ho! Mr. Man! come out here!"
Mr. Man stuck his head out.
"What yer want?" he asked.
"Please, Mr. Man, give me a brick."

"What yer want with a brick?"
"What I'm tired of life and want to die. Earth has no joys for me more. I'll tie the brick around my neck and jump in the pond. You'll never be troubled with me again."

Of course, Mr. Man wanted to get rid of Mr. Rabbit, as he had done so much harm about the place, so he gave him the brick. Mr. Rabbit thanked him sadly and started for the pond.

"Now watch me," he grinned, when he got back to where the trap stood. Saying which he tied the brick on to the other end of the lever that held the trapdoor and quietly got his chestnut out without harm.

On the inside of the trap next morning Mr. Man found a note which read: "Mr. Man, you are a chestnut."

Little Archie Richards, at the close of the Thanksgiving dinner, sat at the table with his face suffused with tears. His mother was greatly troubled. With a sweet smile and with gentle intonation she put one arm around her little baby and asked:

"What is it mamma's little darling wants?"

But "mamma's little darling" continued to cry.

Mamma made another effort to find out the trouble.

"Does mamma's baby want some more cake?" she asked.

"No'm," said the child, while the tears continued to flow.

"Does he want some more pie?" she further inquired.

"No'm," he further replied.

"Well," said the mother, making a last effort to reach his case, "tell mamma what baby wants."

The little boy managed somehow to say between sobs, "I wants some of this out I've got in."—November Lippincott's.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

St. Louis Day.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
The day set aside to do honor to Louis IX, King of France, commonly called the Feast of St. Louis, occurs on Aug. 25. This is the day and date that is daily observed throughout France and her colonies in honor of that great warrior, hero and saint.

So great and universal is the veneration in which the French people hold him that the custom of celebrating his feast day is as much a national as a religious tribute to his memory. Moreover, since the very foundation of this city, this day (Aug. 25) has always been observed and considered as the Feast of St. Louis, patron of the city of St. Louis. On this date religious exercises have annually been held in the Old Cathedral on Walnut street, in honor of the day.

I write this to correct the statement which I have seen in several of the papers, that as Louis IX was born some time in April, it would be impossible to select a day at the World's Fair. His natal day may occur in April, but the day set aside by universal custom to do him honor, and the accepted feast day of the city of St. Louis, is Aug. 25.

A more propitious date from every viewpoint could not be selected for St. Louis day at the World's Fair than Wednesday, Aug. 25, 1904.

Advice to Young Men.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Please publish this:

Very likely "Reuben Green" and the "Bachelor" have just arrived from the backwoods. Don't expect the ladies to all alike, for we have all classes of the refined and otherwise. The same with the men. Don't think because a girl "jollies" you she loves you—they only want to know how easy the men are, and want a bit of fun. The man nowadays is a girl's fool, and only look at style—the meek and the better he likes her. A girl that dresses not as stylish as her school mate, but has a pure, noble heart, is not worth a second thought. Don't think because one girl fooled you that all are the same. Men fool the girls also, so fit it. Be noble and true, and the world's love you if they don't admit it. It is better to have people pretend they dislike you before you and love you inwardly they have the reverse.

Men, don't make love to every girl you meet, for after a while they will not trust you. Do good to others, and you will be happy.

A ST. LOUIS STORY.

e a readable story is Miss Amanda ugular "A Little Girl in Old St. (Dodd, Mead & Co., New York). is the most recent of a series of ories for which the history of the merican cities furnishes the dramatic ts. The time of the St. Louis ro- e is that of Lucile and Col. Auguste eau, and we are given a picture of arly St. Louis which, while somewhat, serves its purpose. The heroine, e de Longueville, of a noble French y, meets with many adventures in the New World, notable among which is her capture by Indians in the famous at- tack on St. Louis, and the life of that period is depicted with reasonable accu- racy. A pretty love story furnishes the sentimental atmosphere, and some quaint and picturesque characters of the old French regime are introduced. The novel may be classed as a contribution to World's Fair fiction, inasmuch as St. Louis changes from Spanish to French and from French to American ownership during the progress of the story.

A NEW LIFE OF VOLTAIRE.

Among the Putnam's fall publications a particularly interesting work is "The Life of Voltaire," by S. G. Tallentyre, whose brilliant study, "The Women of the Salons," was received a few years ago with the greatest favor. Especially with readers of the younger generation, Voltaire is becoming more and more to be merely a name. The book, written in a bright, telling style, portrays the character of Voltaire with truth and sympathy, and should arouse a fresh interest in the great mind who turned the trend of Europe. The author justly acknowledges the inestimable services which Voltaire rendered to the world, services which are often forgotten by many who think of Voltaire as the only arch-heretic.

"Voltaire found the earth overspread with hideous undergrowths of oppression and privileges, intolerance and cruelty—and he destroyed them."

"He found the good land covered with abuses in church and state and every social order; abuses political, personal; of the rights of the living, and the decent respect owed to the dead—and he uprooted them. With a laugh and blasphemy on his lips, but with eyes and soul afire, and the nervous tireless hands trembling with eagerness, the most dauntless, passionate, dogged little worker in all human history hewed and hacked at the monstrous tyrannies of centuries, and flung them dead from the fair and beautiful soil they had usurped."

"At last, after 60 years of superhuman effort, he had cleared the place and made it ready for the planting of the Tree of Liberty."

"Who sits under that tree today in any country, free to worship his God as he will, to think, to learn, and to do all that does not trench on the freedom of his fellow men,—free to progress to heights of light and knowledge as yet unseen and undreamt,—should in gratitude remember Voltaire."

"THE FOOD OF THE GODS."

This work is published in two volumes, attractively illustrated with portraits and views in half-tone and photogravure.

There are three or four authors who have a faculty of interesting every class of readers. Among these is Mr. H. G. Wells, whose "War of the Worlds" proved one of the most popular tales ever printed in a magazine. The November Cosmopolitan contains the first installment of Mr. Wells' new scientific romance, "The Food of the Gods," fascinating in plot, holding the interest of the reader by its thrilling situations, yet having throughout a philosophic vein characteristic of all the author's work. The story is marvelous, yet plausible, intensely interesting, yet instructive.

RED RIBBONS IN ROMANCE.

Both Tarkington's "Cherry," which appeared as a serial in Harper's Magazine, was rewritten and enlarged for book form, and is now one of the leading novels of the Harper's autumn list of fiction. It is said to be the cleverest comedy Mr. Tarkington has yet done, the plot revolving around the love affairs of a charming girl whose red ribbons give the title to the story.

GARLAND'S BEST WORK.

Hamlin Garland, author of "Hesper," is visiting with his family at the home of Mrs. James A. Horne, widow of the actor-author, at Southampton, L. I., where she has a beautiful estate known as Herne-Oaks. Mr. Garland will spend the winter in New York, and will probably make his headquarters there in future, retaining the old homestead at West Salem, Wis., where his early life was passed. He will lecture, as usual, in the intervals of literary labor. Mr. Garland believes that in "Hesper" he has done his strongest work. In the midst of a rude mining camp he has set down his heroine—dainty, distinguished, artificial and superficial in her luxury-trained point of view, but with the possibilities of true womanliness for all that, as the sequel proves.

A DAINY GIFT BOOK.

"The Romance of the Bourbon Chateaux," by Elizabeth W. Champney, author of "Romance of the Feudal Chateaux," etc., appears among the first of the season's gift books. Mrs. Champney describes the grand country houses of the French nobility from personal experience, having spent years studying them. But she does far more; she revives in them their old-time life, with its grandeur and its gaiety. She retells the stories of romance and tragedy connected with their seats of aristocracy, and the old halls and corridors resound again with their parties, their intrigues and their love affairs.

The book is handsomely bound in gold and gray, and has numerous illustrations. (G. P. Putnam's Sons: New York.)

A NEW ST. LOUIS PERIODICAL.

"The Missouri Endeavor," the official organ of the Missouri and St. Louis Christian Endeavorers, is a new monthly that does credit to the spirit of progress which animates our young people. It is well printed and contains a varied assortment of good reading matter. In addition to the news and lessons of special interest to endeavorers, it is a 16-page journal, starting with a circulation of about 30,000. This opening number contains the messages of the state and the St. Louis presidents of the Endeavor Unions, and a number of valuable essays by statesmen, religious leaders and others that will interest the general reader. "The Missouri Endeavor" is strictly the product of local enterprises. Justus J. Geiger is editor; J. Geo. Herman, business manager, and Herbert H. Pool superintendent of circulation.

The Putnam's publish "Little French Masterpieces," being selections from the works of Balzac, Flaubert, Maupassant, Daudet, Gautier and Merimee. There are six volumes, pocket size, in limp leather bindings. A quaint little vest-pocket edition of the Rubaiyat comes also from the Putnam's—a curio in bookmaking.

THE MAN IN THE STREET

The Early Worm.

It was a worm of industry.

It was most enterprising.

To get ahead of other worms

It practiced early rising.

It was a wicked little bird.

And all its reputation;

It spent the hours of the night

In reckless dissipation.

The dawn was just a-breaking when

This dissolute old bird,

Went staggering along toward home;

Its antics were absurd!

It met the goodly little worm.

Which straight began to chide.

Then they went home together

With the little worm inside.

There are many people on whose fine feverish interest the artistic ones will await the verdict in the Jackson case, and should Mrs. J. be victorious, there will no doubt be filed many suits of a similar nature. Perhaps as a result of this trial

we shall ultimately be able to cause the arrest of any person on the street who wears a discordant color combination. We shall be enabled to suppress that inharmonious juxtaposition of green and blue that threatens to become fashionable. We can compel all people to wear those colors

most suitable to their general composition, and thus bring about a more beautiful and consequently better world.

Opossums, persimmons and politics are

MILITARY ESCORT FOR MOVING MONEY

Packages of Silver Are Transferred From Subtreasury Under Heavy Guard.

A large amount of silver, done up in packages and consigned to various points within the territory of the St. Louis subtreasury, was moved under heavy guard, as told in the late editions of Thursday's Post-Dispatch, from the subtreasury office in the Federal building to Union Station.

The money was guarded by an escort of 15 troopers under command of Capt. G. W. Evans of the Eighth Cavalry, who came to the city from Jefferson Barracks for this purpose. A large crowd of people watched the moving of the money. The military escort was provided by the government at the request of the express company which handled the silver.

THE CLOSE WAS LOWER

Foreign and Domestic Conditions Not at All Satisfactory—Position of December Wheat.

Narrow and uninteresting were the speculative grain markets Friday. Outside the December wheat deal the range in price was 3c in wheat and corn and practically none in oats. Speculation was thin and featureless, unless it was the almost absence of outside trade and the futile efforts of both the bull and the bear of the pit to effect a decided change in market values. The bear, however, had the best of it, if that best was only a loss in wheat and 3c in corn and oats for the closing figures of the day. Small supply in sight was the principal argument for the bear. The cash demands and premium prices having proven a delusion and a snare so far, the advances that had been built up on that basis were being sold off. The foreign news continued unfavorable and backed by poor demands from abroad and exports below an average, his applying to both wheat and corn. Domestic demands for all grain are unsatisfactory also, and there is nothing in the weather or crop news at home or abroad to disturb the trade at present. This all reads bearish, but that is how the conditions shape. The power behind the December wheat deal does not appear to be in working order just now, and the little trading is among interested parties, leaving the combine to do their interest.

WHEAT—Although English markets did not respond to any extent to American markets' late decline, they did not give much heed to the former's comparatively well sustained prices and paid more attention to bearish conditions at home, including good receipts, notably so in the northwest, and generally favorable weather. Speculation continued light and of a professional character, then, chiefly on buying lines. Most wheat centered in the May option, not much desire to operate a December being notable.

May opened 1 1/2c lower at 82 1/2c, sold off to 82c and back to 82 1/2c. December opened 1/2c lower at 81c and recovered later to 81 1/2c.

The decline in foreign markets as reported by cables was only at London and Liverpool, the latter then recovering that loss. Broccoli, settled through buying by shorts who feared a squeeze in December. Paris was quiet and unchanged. On this side the wheat market was seasonable, with some rain west of the river, and fine in the Northwest for farmers' deliveries. Receipts at Minneapolis and Duluth were 63c cars, against 65c cars last Friday and 69c cars a year ago. At St. Louis 14,500 bu came in against 7,700 bu a week ago and 146,300 bu a year ago. The average grade showed a further increase of 70,000 bu. Kansas City received 129,000 bu, against 210,000 bu last year.

Little trading was indulged in for some time following the receipt of cables. Outside markets firmed up some and Chicago tried to work up bull sentiment on bullish comparisons of visible supplies, predictions for rain in the Northwest where the skies clear and barometer high and an old thing that market thought might be effective, but St. Louis failed to bite. Cables reporting Liverpool 1 1/2c lower for 1c and London, Paris and Antwerp unchanged. The only feature affecting any extent was the bull market in the Argentine, which was very small, too, and the market weakened later.

May sold at 82 1/2c and December from 81c to 81 1/2c. July was offered at 75c. Primary receipts were 1,060 bu, against 1,700 bu one year ago, and shipments 48,000 bu against 19,000 bu last year. Clearances in flour and wheat were 125,000 bu. Not much change occurred after 12 o'clock. The only feature affecting any extent was the bull market in the Argentine, which was very small, too, and the market weakened later.

Cash market—Received 115 sacks and 112 cars local and 12 cars through. Dealer. Milling demands limited to car lots. No buying by mills and no considerable grain carried over, mainly of hard winter. Large percentage of No. 2 and No. 3 red sold to the elevators at 80c and 80 1/2c. No. 2 red delivered—No. 2 red at 80 1/2c to store and 80 1/2c to elevator. No. 3 red at 79 1/2c to store and 79 1/2c to elevator. No. 4 red at 78 1/2c to store and 78 1/2c to elevator. No. 5 red at 77 1/2c to store and 77 1/2c to elevator.

CORN—No fault could be found with the weather conditions in the corn belt for some days. The rain had fallen in the corn belt and conditions were favorable for much colder temperatures, all of which was right for new crop. This, with weak cables, Liverpool having declined 1/2c and London 1/2c, nearly 2,500,000 bu shipped by the Argentine for week and the early wheat market made the selling season very good. Receipts at the opening. Receipts were very good, as but 37,100 bu had arrived, against 146,300 bu a year ago.

But little speculative interest in this grain was manifested, save on occasional trades made. December opened 1 1/2c off at 40 1/2c, and later 40 1/2c bid. May was sold 40c lower at 40c.

An advance in Chicago on a disappointing banking return from Iowa and predictions for rain in the West caused both December and May to be bid up to 40 1/2c and 40c, with no sellers at either. The lake market did not hold up and as soon as that noted locally December sold at 40 1/2c and May at 40c. Liverpool closed 1/2c and London 1/2c lower for the day.

Primary receipts were 586,000 bu, against 80,000 bu one year ago and shipments 40,000 bu, against 19,000 bu last year. Clearances were 80,000 bu.

The market shared stronger, subside, but continued quiet. For December developed that put that option at 40 1/2c and May at 40c. Cash market—Received 115 sacks and 112 cars local and 12 cars through. Dealer. Milling demands limited to car lots. No buying by mills and no considerable grain carried over, mainly of hard winter. Large percentage of No. 2 and No. 3 red sold to the elevators at 80c and 80 1/2c. No. 2 red delivered—No. 2 red at 80 1/2c to store and 80 1/2c to elevator. No. 3 red at 79 1/2c to store and 79 1/2c to elevator. No. 4 red at 78 1/2c to store and 78 1/2c to elevator. No. 5 red at 77 1/2c to store and 77 1/2c to elevator.

These were 581,000 bu wheat and 2,422,000 bu corn, where the week before 344,000 bu wheat and 1,752,000 bu corn were shipped. During corresponding week last year no wheat was shipped and but 1,600 bu corn. Since January 1 that country has exported 90,000 bu, against 18,484 bu for same period last and 63,720 bu for corn, against 10,000 bu last year. Of the Argentine crop conditions a cable from London says: Argentine crop accounts are rather American. Lined harvesting has already begun and quality spoken well of in portions of northern Santa Fe.

Bromhall called that the Victoria official report estimates the wheat yield this year will be about 25,000,000 bu, which is the largest on record. South Australia will raise 15,000,000 bu, against 6,000,000 in 1902, and Australian total crop will be about 60,000,000 bu, against 12,400,000 in 1902.

An analysis of the imports and exports in stocks in Europe for August and September, the first two months of the present crop season, indicates a consumption this season the rate of $240,000 bu per week against $44,000 bu per week for the first two months last year, and $400,000 bu for two years ago.

A Liverpool grain house cables that wheat and corn opened lower, reflecting American advances. Wheat demand was moderate with declining because of large receipts and American holding off in anticipation of lower prices. They say the market would respond quickly to any improvement in American business in Chicago yesterday was 25,000 bu No. 2 red, 100,000 bu No. 2 hard and 25,000 bu No. 2 spring wheat for shipment. Sales of corn were 50,000 bu to eastern interior, Duluth sold 20,000 bu wheat, 10,000 bu corn and 4,000 bu for export. The seaboard reported 20,000 bu wheat and 10,000 bu corn taken for export.

Liverpool—Wheat opened 1/4c lower on the heavy Australian report; later prices advanced 1/4c on short covering. Testing a squeeze in December. Corn opened 1/4c lower and further declined 1/4c on large arrivals, pressure of spot and heavy liquidation. Underwriters weak.

Edward Meyer, an exporter of Düsseldorf, Mannheim and Rotterdam, writes the Harms Elevator Co. that the business in wheat almost paralyzed. Supplies in Russia appear inexhaustible; in two towns, Nikolai and Odessa, as high as 200,000 bu, surpassing total visible of the United States. Only some of our mills import wheat from Russia for export.

Carroll, to, wires that hunking returns so far indicate 15 to 25 per cent less corn than was estimated before hunking commenced, and more or less soft and chaffy corn in every field.

An increase of 250,000 bu is possible in the St. Louis stock of wheat for week. The little increase will be much less than the 2,300,000 bu increase of a year ago. The increases during November of last year were away above the average for that month.

Chicago wired that market that it was reported there 50,000 bu December wheat had been settled in St. Louis. No confirmation of this could be learned at this end, and though one party said if such a settlement was made it probably was at 30 over the price of December in Chicago.

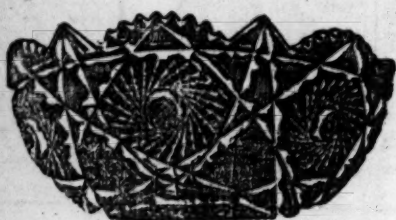

The crop outlook of the Modern Miller—Rain is needed east of the Mississippi river, but as yet there are no complaints arising from lack of moisture. The general condition of the winter wheat crop satisfactory. Seeding is not yet finished, but prospects are for an average fully as large if not larger than last year.

The clearances of flour and wheat from both coasts of the United States and Canada, as reported by Bradstreet's, 4,004,000 bu for week, against 3,700,000 bu last week, 5,500,000 bu for corresponding week last year and 8,670,000 bu two years ago. Since January 1st the total for week ending with 1,920,000 bu for same period last year and 108,700 bu two years ago. Corn clearances for week were 1,280,000 bu, against 1,810,000 bu the week before, 150,000 bu a year ago and 608,000 bu two years ago. Since July 1st they are 18,400 bu, compared with 1,730,000 bu for same time last year and 15,730,000 bu two years ago.

Protest Against Tar Smoke.

Citizens living in the vicinity of Vandeventer and Duncan avenues appeared in the City Hall Police Court Friday morning to complain about the Granite Bituminous Crushing Co., which they declared was a nuisance.
Secretary Miller of the board of health testified that on August 12 the operations of the crushing company had been condemned as a nuisance and showed the records of the board, stating that the company, by "mixing crushed granite and coal tar, created an enormous amount of dust and smoke."
Judge Tracy heard the city's side of the case and the contents of the defendant company will be presented later.

TO THE MEMORY OF MRS. BOOTH-TUCKER

Tribute Paid Salvation Army Leader by Thousands of Friends in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.--Tribute to the memory of Mrs. Emma Booth-Tucker, the Salvation Army leader, was paid by thousands of her friends in Chicago today. At 11 o'clock the body was taken to Princess Park, on West Madison street, and will lie in state until 7 tonight. An hour later memorial services will be held.

A dispatch from Fort Madison says that Col. Holland, who was injured in the wreck that caused Booth-Tucker's death, is in a fair way to recover.

MRS. BOOTH-TUCKER'S DEATH MAY RECONCILE THE BOOTHES.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 30.--Ballington Booth, head of the Volunteers of America, declined to discuss the death of his sister, Mrs. Emma Booth-Tucker, which occurred in the Santa Fe Railroad wreck at Dean Lake, Mo. He said he would depart at once for New York to await the arrival of the body, and that it is likely that the remains will be shipped to London for interment.

After passing resolutions of condolence on the death of Mrs. Booth-Tucker, the grand field council of the Volunteers of America, which has been in session here behind closed doors, adjourned without holding the contemplated post-convention banquet.

Members of the council, when asked if the death of Mrs. Booth-Tucker would reconcile the factions of the Salvation Army, Ballington Booth said that there would likely be a reconciliation between father and son, and that a reconciliation was not improbable.

GEN. WM. BOOTH'S TRIBUTE TO THE WORK OF HIS DAUGHTER.

LONDON, Oct. 30.--General William Booth, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, has sent the following message to Salvationists throughout the world concerning the tragic death of his daughter, Mrs. Booth-Tucker:

"I am suddenly prostrated with grief in the presence of what appears at the moment to be an indescribable calamity and an unfathomable mystery. I can only look up and say to my heavenly father, 'Thy will be done.'"

"My daughter was, after her mother, first among the many noble and consecrated women who have been permitted to know during the 50 years of my public life. Her loss is irreparable, but so much more need is there for me, for you and for us all to go on with our work for God and the blessing of our fellow men. This, however my heart may bleed, is my purpose so long as He may be pleased to prolong my life."

"The blow will fall with intense severity upon Commanders Booth-Tucker and on my officers and soldiers in America for whom my daughter has fought and for us all to go on with our work for God and the blessing of our fellow men. This, however my heart may bleed, is my purpose so long as He may be pleased to prolong my life."

MOVING DAY IN LITTLE OKLAHOMA

"King" of Houseboat Dwellers Must Change His Abode, Says Police Judge.

There is consternation in "Little Oklahoma." The traditions of 30 long years have been trodden ruthlessly under foot.

The rights of the citizens of the colony have been attacked, and the attack has been successful.

Judge Pollard of the Dayton Street Police Station has declared that Charles Meyer must move.

Charles Meyer is "King" of "Little Oklahoma," and a blow at Meyer is a blow at the entire houseboat colony.

A corporation is causing the indignation which now arises from the united voices of Little Oklahomans. A corporation had King Meyer brought before Judge Pollard Friday morning.

The corporation insisted that King Meyer's houseboat, the largest and finest in the colony, was blocking Angelrod street. This, the company said, had occasioned great inconvenience. It had prevented them from unloading many, many thousands of feet of lumber at the foot of Angelrod street. They were unable to get to their flatboats, or to get the lumber off the flatboats up Angelrod street.

The corporation representative said that King Meyer's houseboat floated down-stream sometime during the flood, that it stood 100 feet from the river, just east of the railway tracks and squarely across the street.

King Meyer insisted that there was no street where he was "camped" in his houseboat. He insisted the land there had been "made" by the river and that it was a barren waste of mud and sand which could not possibly be used as a street.

Judge Pollard reached the conclusion that Meyer was occupying city property and ordered that he move at once. He allowed Meyer until Nov. 4 to inform the court of his removal.

SHOWED TEETH MARKS ON ARM

Mrs. Mutzen Bared Forearm to Let Court See How Mrs. Kasuwasaki Had Fought.

The marks of six human teeth were plainly visible upon the right forearm of Mrs. Kate Mutzen of 142 North Twenty-first street as she rolled back her sleeve in the Dayton street police court Friday morning.

Judge Pollard saw the tell-tale imprint and heard the story of the fight between Mrs. Mutzen and Mrs. Kasuwasaki, her next-door neighbor. Then he fined Mrs. Kasuwasaki $10 by default, for she was not in court.

Witnesses testified that each woman had six children, and that the little ones quarreled Oct. 17. The childish trouble extended to the mothers. They clinched. Hair was pulled. Finally Mrs. Kasuwasaki sank her teeth into the arm of Mrs. Mutzen.

Mrs. Mutzen begged for mercy--five minutes before she was released by Mrs. Kasuwasaki.

Mrs. Kasuwasaki sent a physician's certificate to the court, saying she was unable to appear.

Youthful Globe-Trotter Arrested.

Mike Hart, a 15-year-old globe trotter, was arrested for vagrancy in East St. Louis Friday morning. If the statements of the boy are true, he began his life of wandering at the very tender age of 8 years, when his parents died.

For a while Mike was in an orphan asylum at Toledo. Not liking it there, he went to Detroit, where he sold papers. Later he made a trip to Cleveland.

All this time the railroads, he says, were getting money for carrying him. Finding Cleveland not as suitable a place as he had anticipated, Mike determined to come to St. Louis, where he had good home for himself.

Upon his arrival here, he was proceeding on when he was arrested. The first time he has been in St. Louis, he is not at all worried.
